CASE # 99-16215

CASE TYPE: Assist to Jefferson County
DATE TYPED: 04/20/99
Investigator Kevin Heaton

On 04/20/99 at approximately 1335 hrs., this Investigator and Investigator James Rasmussen responded to Littleton Porter Hospital, located at 7700 S. Broadway, to interview shooting victims from Columbine High School in Jefferson County.

This Investigator and Investigator Rasmussen first interviewed a victim identified as:

DOYLE, JENNIFER
DOB - 01/19/82

DOYLE advised that after passing period for First Lunch, she was located in the library. DOYLE heard gunshots and bombs going off. DOYLE stated she was hiding under a desk in the library when two suspects entered

The suspects were described as:

White males, 5'7-5'8, skinny build
Wearing black boots, pants, and trench-coats

The suspects were randomly shooting at victims and at one time told everyone to stand up.

One of the suspects said he was waiting to do this for a long time.

The suspect asked the second suspect, "You know what else I've been waiting to do?"

The second suspect said, "Yeah, stab some one."

DOYLE said there were 30 to 40 people in the library and one victim, who she believes was killed, was laying on top of her.

DOYLE was able to run out the back door of the library to safety.

DOYLE sustained injuries to her right hand, to include breaks and fractures, from gunshot wounds.

DOYLE said she saw a long gun, but could not describe any other weapons.

Investigator Rasmussen then interviewed a second victim identified as:

KYLER, ADAM

PROGRESS REPORT
CASE # 99-16215

KYLER advised that he was running through the cafeteria to escape, when the shooting began. That there were chairs flying through the air and something struck him in the back and neck. That he believed he could escape, by hiding in a dark room near the computer room. KYLER stayed in the dark room until he was able to leave the building. KYLER saw one suspect wearing a trench coat, but could not identify the suspect further, nor what weapons he carried.

Investigator Rasmussen was advised by Hospital Staff that KYLER had blunt trauma, injury to the back and spinal area. There was no additional information at this time.

Investigator Rasmussen then interviewed a third victim identified as:

JANKOWSKI, JOCYE

JANKOWSKI a teacher at the school provided the following information. JANKOWSKI that she was in the teachers' lounge, adjacent to the student cafeteria, having lunch. Two fellow teachers were looking out the lounge window to the west.

They stated, "What's going on."

JANKOWSKI looked out the window and saw two bloodied students' bodies, lying on the grass. JANKOWSKI then began to hear, what she described as, loud explosions and gunshots along with screaming to the west of her location. JANKOWSKI thought the gunshots and screaming was moving her way. JANKOWSKI, two fellow teachers and two students, locked themselves in a bathroom. They heard a very loud explosion and gunshots outside the bathroom.

They then decided to escape by going through the ceiling and she subsequently fell through the ceiling, back into the lounge. This is when she injured her knees and back.

They decided the best way to survive, was to open the door and try to escape the building. They did this and were successful. During her escape, JANKOWSKI never saw the suspects.

WITNESS:

JENNIFER DOYLE, DOB/01-19-82

[REDACTED]

INVESTIGATION:

On 5-18-99, at about 0930 hours, I interviewed Jennifer Doyle at her residence. Jennifer was in the library at Columbine High School on 4-20-99 when the shootings occurred. I requested that Doyle begin with the beginning of her day and tell me her activities and observations.

Doyle stated that she parked her car in the Junior parking lot, facing Pierce, at about 0720 hours. She went to the Trigonometry class with Mr. Smith for first period. Second period she was in Science with Mr. Friesen. I asked her about the announcements made during that period. She stated that she doesn't recall anything unusual from the announcements. Third period was Language Arts with Ms. Hoffman. Fourth period she went to Gym with Mr. Place. She stated that fourth period was out about ten minutes early, approximately 1100 hours. Doyle stated she has "A" lunch for fifth period.

Doyle stated that no one associated with the "Trench Coat Mafia" are in any of her classes. She stated she was not familiar with the group prior to the shootings. She had never seen Eric Harris before. She does remember Dylan Klebold because she went to elementary school with him at Governor's Ranch Elementary. Both of them were in the Chips Program, which is a special program for advanced students. Doyle stated she had seen [REDACTED] before, in the hallway, but did not know him by name. She does recall [REDACTED] being someone who wore a trench coat.

At 1100 hours, Doyle went down to the cafeteria. There she sat at a table which the map I showed her designed as table "E."

She sat there with her friend, Eric Schmidt, for about five minutes. She stated that fellow student, Kelly Burgesser, joined them. Burgesser has fourth period off. Doyle stated that she saw nothing out of the ordinary when she was in the cafeteria. She did not observe anyone carrying anything heavy into the cafeteria, nor did she see the suspects or anyone associated with the "Trench Coat Mafia."

She stated after about five minutes in the cafeteria she and Burgesser went upstairs to use the phones near the main office. She stated that Burgesser was not feeling well and was making a call to her parents to have them pick her up. After the phone call was made, Doyle went to the library, while Burgesser went back down to the cafeteria. I asked Doyle what route she took to the library. She could not remember specifically, but thought that she went down the hallway between the Tech lab and the language arts room, then west along the south main hall, then north to the library entrance.

When she entered the library, Doyle placed her backpack on a table. She indicated on the map that I showed her that this was table number one. At that same table was student Mark Kintgen. I asked Doyle who else she saw in the library. She stated that sitting in a chair next to the window at the library entrance was Val Schmurr. At the table designated as number 2 on the map were students Lisa Kruetz, Lauren Townsend, and Jeanna Park. At the table marked number 3 on the map were two students, Blair and Hochhalter.

When Doyle first went into the library she went towards the west end to look for a friend. When she didn't see the friend she went back to table number one. I asked Doyle if she made any observations outside the west windows. She stated she did not go that far and at that time nothing had caught her attention. When she returned to table one, a female teacher, whose name she did not know but identified as "the one who made the 9-1-1 call", entered the library screaming that someone had a gun. The teacher was telling everyone, "Get under the tables!" After the teacher entered, a male student entered and was hunched over. Although she did not see blood on the male student, she could tell that he was hurt. She stated then she took the matter seriously.

Doyle was going to get underneath table one, but thought that it did not provide enough cover for her. She thought she was too exposed. Doyle ran to the back of the library on the south. She hid underneath the table designated as number 14 on the map.

I asked her who was under the table with her. She stated Austin Eubanks, Corey DePooter, and Danny Mauser. She described Mauser as a male student with blond hair.

Doyle then began to hear gunshots and bombs going off. It sounded as if they were coming from the hallway in front of the library entrance. She did not see the suspects enter the library. She thought the suspects were in the library when she heard a male voice say, "Get out from under the tables!" Doyle said no one moved.

Doyle had the impression that the gunmen left the library at this time. She stated she still heard gunshots, but the shots did not sound as loud. She thought the shots were perhaps coming from the hallway or downstairs. She stated that the gunshots were continuous.

Doyle stated that she was under table 14 for about five to ten minutes. She thought the suspects were gone. Then she heard a window shattering. She heard the comment from a male voice saying something to the effect that "the library's going to go." She said there was a panic sound to the male's voice. At this point she thought that there was a bomb in the library and that the bomb was going to go off.

Doyle stated there was a male student sitting underneath the table that the map had designed as number 11. She stated that the male looked calm. She thought he was handling the situation much better than she was.

Doyle then heard the gunmen being very loud and laughing. She could not tell what they're words were, and she could not distinguish how many voices were talking. She began to see bullets bouncing off the south wall near her. She described it as "little ball things bouncing off the wall." She glanced up and saw a suspect, all in black, walking between the book cases just to her east. I asked her which direction the suspect was walking. She stated she could not remember.

She then heard a male voice very close to her asking, "What's your name?" The person responded, "John Savage." The male responded, "Oh, we know you, get out of here." Doyle stated at this point she thought perhaps the police were in the library.

She thought that was why somebody was being let go. Just then, one of the suspects pulled a chair out from underneath table 14 where she was at. She glanced up and saw two sets of black boots standing to the east side of her table. One was ~~in the~~ next to the table, on the east. The other one was a little further away to the northeast. She again thought perhaps it was the police because of the black boots. She glanced up to where she could see the entire bodies of the two individuals. They were white males. She stated she did not recognize them. She said that they were dressed in black. I asked her if the suspects were wearing masks. She stated they were not. She only glanced at them, then looked away.

Doyle stated that later that evening while in the hospital, she saw a t.v. news program which identified the two shooters as Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold. She stated she knows that the individual standing closest to her table was Dylan Klebold because he was taller and bigger than the other male.

Doyle stated that the gunmen, she later could identify as Klebold, had a shotgun which he was holding with both of his hands. I asked her if it was a single or double barrel shotgun. She stated she did not know. She stated there was another gun on Klebold's left side. She stated "it was not a little gun" and that there was a piece coming out from the bottom of the gun. We looked at a newspaper which had silhouettes of the guns used in the shooting. She pointed out that the gun she was describing as being on Klebold's left side was the Tech 9.

After Klebold pulled the chair out, he shot the shotgun underneath their table. I asked her if it was one shot or more than one shot. She thinks it was only one shot. Doyle had her right hand resting on Corey DePooter's right shoulder when the shotgun blast occurred. She stated she began screaming. She stated she was probably screaming for a while because at one point she realized that she was screaming and that she needed to stop. When she stopped screaming she felt a tingling sensation, described as "pins and needles", in her right hand. She could hear both male suspects laughing. She put her head down on top of Cory DePooter's back. Her head was facing to the west because she did not want the suspects to see her. She kept her eyes open, but was trying to play dead. I asked Doyle if she saw any weapons being held by Eric Harris. She stated she did not.

Doyle looked at her hand and saw that she was wounded. She took Corey DePooter's shirt and wrapped her hand in it. Doyle stated she could see that there was a stream of blood flowing down along the left side of DePooter. She stated she knew that he had been killed. She heard DePooter breath his last. There were no conversations with DePooter. Doyle stated that prior to a gunmen coming to her table, DePooter had been encouraging her and Eubanks by saying that everything was going to be all right.

The next comment she heard from the suspects was one saying, "You know what else I've wanted to do?" The other suspect replied, "Yeah, stab someone." This was when Doyle kept her face to the west and did not move. She thought that if she moved she would be stabbed by the suspects.

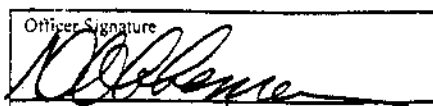

I asked Doyle to describe her wounds. She described shotgun pellets. Three pellets entered her right hand (one crushed her ring finger, another one entered her wrist, and another one entered the back of her hand.) She stated that there were two exit wounds. one coming out in the thumb area, and one just below her pinky finger. Doyle has a metal plate and screws holding her ring finger together.

Doyle is unsure if any other shots were fired after she was injured. She stated that she felt as if most of the gunfire happened prior to her being shot. Doyle stated that she and Eubanks laid for a while underneath the table. When Doyle first thought that the suspects had left the library because it became quiet, she said something to Eubanks. Eubanks responded, "Shhh" and the two of them did not talk for a while.

At one point Eubanks tapped her and said, "We've got to get out of here." The two of them back out from under the table Doyle believes they went towards the south wall and then ran north along the west wall where the windows are, then to the northwest exit. Doyle remembers seeing a girl sitting down underneath the south computer table as she was running towards the exit. She stated that the girl was injured. There were about 15 students at the exit trying to get out of the library.

Doyle could not remember anyone else underneath table 14 getting out and running when she and Eubanks did. She thought later on that the student underneath her table was Mauser, and that Mauser had been killed.

Doyle stated that when she exited the northwest door of the library she ran behind a police car which was 20 to 30 away. She ran behind the police car where two police officers were positioned. She could not say whether shots were being fired at that time. She stated that the male students began to take off their shirts to use them to help with the wounded. It took a while, but police cars began coming up to evacuate the students. She stated she believes she was in the third police car which came to get students. She was taken to a neighborhood southwest of the school. Doyle could not remember anything further about the incident.

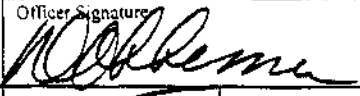

I advised Doyle that Mauser had been found underneath table number 9. This surprised her. I told her that the student underneath table 14 had the last name of Ball. She looked his picture up in the yearbook and stated that she remembers the student as having blond hair, which Ball had. She does not recall anything that Ball did underneath their table or when he left the library.

Doyle stated she left a black backpack in the library which contained five black notebooks. The only thing of value in her backpack was a TI82 calculator. Doyle stated she did not know her locker number, but she shares a locker with Burgess.

My interview with Doyle concluded at about 1200 hours.

OBSERVATION/INVESTIGATION:

On Tuesday, 04-20-99, at approx. 1240 hrs., I responded to Adventist Littleton Hospital to interview victims and witness to the shooting at Columbine High School. When I arrived at the hospital, I interviewed several people, including Stephen "Austin" EUBANKS.

I asked Austin, after being treated for his injuries, what happened. Austin said he and his best friend, Corey DePooter, were sitting in the library when they heard noises which sounded like someone hammering against the wall. Austin said another students said it sounded like gun fire. Austin said it sounded as if it was coming from outside, to the north and west of the library. Austin said he felt the library start shaking and heard several explosions. About this time, Austin said several students came running into the library, along with a teacher, and the teacher was yelling to get under the tables as there were people with guns in the building. Austin said he,

Corey, a female students identified as Jennifer Doyle, and an unknown freshman student all crawled under the same table. Austin said they were about the second from the last table. As they hid under the table, Austin said he heard "them" come into the room. When they came into the room, Austin said he heard a bomb go off, but it was not near where he was. Austin said he could hear "them" walking around the room randomly shooting under the tables. When "they" got to the table he was under, Austin said "Dylan" pointed his gun under the table, directly at Corey, and pulled the trigger. Austin said Dylan continued shooting under the table, but Austin had his head covered at this time. When Austin looked up, Corey had been shot and was bleeding profusely and Austin said he knew Corey was dead. Austin said he then heard a male subject, elsewhere in the library, ask Dylan and Eric what they were doing. Dylan responded, "Killing people!" and told the male subject to get out and he heard running from the room. Then, Austin said he heard one of the subjects say something about doing something he has always wanted to do and he took a knife out of a side pocket on his pant leg. Austin believed they were going to go cut someone. Austin said someone said they left and they all got up and ran from the library, outside. Once outside, Austin said they were met by officers and told to get behind a police car as there was someone on the roof. Austin said he heard someone say there were three of them and he thought he heard the name [REDACTED]

I asked Austin if he knew the people shooting. Austin said he knows their first names, Dylan and Eric. Austin described Dylan as tall (6-02 to 6-04), approx. 160 lbs., 17-18 years old, pale white complexion, blonde medium length hair, unshaven, "goofy looking", wearing black cargo pants, but "...no trench coat today!" I asked Austin what he meant by "...no trench coat today!" Austin said Dylan is always seen in his trench coat, along with Eric and [REDACTED]

Next, I asked Austin to describe Eric. Austin said Eric is the shorter of the two and is approx. 5-10 to 5-11, shorter hair in length, thin build, and walks "bow-legged". Austin was not certain what Eric was wearing.

I asked Austin if he knew what [REDACTED] was wearing. Austin said he did not actually see [REDACTED] but heard [REDACTED] was with them and always sees [REDACTED] with Dylan and Eric at school.

I asked Austin if he saw what each of them was carrying. Austin said both had combat boots, body armor, shot guns, pipe bombs, and one had a knife on his pant leg. I asked Austin if he knew what was used to shoot Corey. Austin said it was a semi-automatic of some type, but was not certain if it was a rifle or handgun.

Austin was examined by Dr. Antuna and released after being examined. Austin's injuries were to his right hand (index finger and small finger), and a two inch grazing type wound on his left knee. The injuries to Austin's index finger required three stitches. Austin said he received the wound from either a bullet or fragment while under the table. Austin's injuries were photographed by an Arapahoe County S.O. crime lab. photographer.

DET106 06/14/1999 050599/BOATRIGHT/MO

Jefferson County Sheriff's Department 99-7625

On 04/29/99, Detective Boatright (IO) was assigned lead #DN1880, requesting he contact and interview Austin Eubanks. Within the narrative of the lead, IO was informed Austin Eubanks was in the library when the incident occurred. IO was also supplied information from Detective Kreutzer with the Golden Police Department who advised Austin Eubanks had initially been interviewed by Detective Greenwell with the Lakewood Police Department as he was being treated in a hospital emergency room.

On 05/04/99 at approximately 1200 hours, IO met with Austin Eubanks and his father, Steve Eubanks, at the Arvada Police Department. IO would note when setting up the interview, Steve Eubanks requested the interview of his son be conducted at the Arvada Police Department. Upon contact with Austin Eubanks, IO confirmed he is 17 years of age, DOB: 10/07/81. Austin Eubanks resides at [REDACTED]

Austin Eubanks indicated he is presently a junior at Columbine High School. As point of clarification, Austin Eubanks' father, Steve Eubanks, remained for the interview.

IO subsequently requested Austin Eubanks provide an account of his activities on 04/20/99, beginning at the time he arrived at school. Austin Eubanks told IO he normally receives a ride to school from his father as was the case this date. Austin Eubanks stated he believed his father dropped him off at school at approximately 0730 hours. Austin Eubanks indicated his father let him off in the northeast faculty parking lot and he subsequently utilized the main east entrance to enter the school. Austin Eubanks told IO based on his recollection of that date he immediately went to his first period class. Pursuant to questioning, Austin Eubanks stated he did not recall seeing any unusual activity when he arrived at school.

Austin Eubanks indicated he went to his 1st period class which he identified as "World Lit." Austin Eubanks stated his 1st period class begins at approximately 0730 hours and concludes at approximately 0820 hours. Austin Eubanks identified his World Lit instructor as "Mr. Webb." According to Austin Eubanks, his "World Lit" class is located in the "east center section near the front of the school" (referring to the upper level).

Austin Eubanks reported he then attended his 2nd period class which started at approximately 0825 hours and concluded at approximately 0920 hours. Austin Eubanks identified his 2nd period class as "World of Work" which is taught by "Ms. Inman." According to Austin Eubanks, his 2nd period class was taught by a substitute on 04/20/99. Austin Eubanks did not recall the name of the substitute teacher. Austin Eubanks stated his "World of Work" is located on the main level of the school "towards the northeast." Austin Eubanks further referenced that classroom as the "clothing he too would have been facing something of a northeasterly direction. IO subsequently had Austin Eubanks diagram everyone's position as it related to the people located under table #14.

Austin Eubanks stated after positioning himself under the table he began hearing "lots of gunshots and explosions." Austin Eubanks further clarified he believes some of the "gunshots" were actually "shotgun" rounds being fired. Austin Eubanks stated he believed he could tell the difference between a gunshot, shotgun blasts and an explosion. Austin Eubanks clarified at the time he was hearing the "explosions" the "floor shook." Austin Eubanks clarified he did not believe the suspects had entered the library when he made these initial observations. Austin Eubanks could not recall the number of gunshots/shotgun blasts or explosions he heard initially.

Austin Eubanks went onto explain during the same time frame he looked up towards the east doors (entrance) of the library at which time he made brief eye contact with Patricia Nielson (located behind the main counter of the library). Austin Eubanks stated Patricia Nielson then again yelled, "Get down." Austin Eubanks stated he believed Patricia Nielson was speaking to him specifically when making that statement. When asked if he had come out from underneath the table, Austin Eubanks responded in the negative. Austin Eubanks stated he believed he had simply stuck his head out from underneath the table at the time he had made eye contact with Patricia Nielson.

Austin Eubanks stated it was a short time later the suspects entered the library. Pursuant to questioning, Austin Eubanks estimated it was approximately five minutes from the time he identified the noises he was initially hearing as gunshots to the point the suspects entered the library. Austin Eubanks stated he initially only saw one of the suspects enter the library. When asked to describe that suspect, Austin Eubanks stated he knew him by the first name of "Dylan." Austin Eubanks indicated his knowledge of that person's first name came from prior contacts at school. Austin Eubanks clarified he did not associate with either suspect but simply knew them from seeing them at school. When asked to describe the person he referred to as "Dylan," Austin Eubanks clarified he initially saw that individual when he was standing up "in front of the counter." IO clarified with Austin Eubanks he was referring to the main counter where he had initially seen Patricia Nielson hiding behind. IO further clarified when he initially saw the person referred to as "Dylan" that individual was in between the counter and the reference desk towards the center section of the library.

Austin Eubanks described "Dylan" as a white male in his late teens with "longer light brown hair " Austin Eubanks stated "Dylan" was wearing a "black trench coat" with "black combat pants" and "boots." Austin Eubanks clarified it appeared as though all of

Pursuant to questioning, Austin Eubanks stated he was not exactly certain how the suspects went from the west section to the east section of the library. Austin Eubanks did indicate there was one point he believed one of the suspects had passed through a set of bookshelves from the far west section entering the center section and then continuing onto the far east section of the library. Austin Eubanks diagramed what he believed was possibly a path of travel for one of the suspects. Austin Eubanks stated he believed the other suspect had walked to the east section of the library from the far north. Austin Eubanks then diagramed that movement. IO confirmed with Austin Eubanks he did not actually see either of the suspects moving in the manner indicated but based his belief on the fact he could hear movement which he thought would have been consistent with what he had previously described. Austin Eubanks was unable to be more specific concerning that point.

Austin Eubanks estimated the suspects were on the east side of the library for approximately "a minute or two" before he saw Dylan Klebold walk between the book shelves near tables #3 and #5. Austin Eubanks clarified Dylan Klebold was walking from the east into the center section of the library. According to Austin Eubanks, Eric Harris appeared from that same location moments later. IO confirmed with Austin Eubanks he had seen both Dylan Klebold and Eric Harris walk into the center section of the library from a separation between book shelves which he believed were near tables #3 and #5. Austin Eubanks clarified this was the first time he had actually seen Eric Harris.

IO again confirmed with Austin Eubanks the first time he had seen Eric Harris was when the forenamed entered the center section of the library. Austin Eubanks was then asked to describe Eric Harris. Austin Eubanks stated actually the only thing he noticed regarding Eric Harris was the forenamed's "face and weapon." Austin Eubanks stated he did not see Eric Harris as well as he had seen Dylan Klebold. When asked to describe what he had seen, Austin Eubanks stated Eric Harris is a white male with "brown hair cut short." Austin Eubanks stated the one thing he specifically noticed regarding Eric Harris was the forenamed had "blood around his face." When asked to be more specific, Austin Eubanks stated Eric Harris had what appeared to be "quite a bit of blood around his mouth, under his nose." Austin Eubanks then stated he had seen Eric Harris holding what he described as a black or dark colored "rifle". Austin Eubanks stated he was certain the weapon he had seen Eric Harris holding was not a shotgun. Austin Eubanks was unable to be more specific concerning Eric Harris' description. Austin Eubanks did clarify he was positive as to his identification of Eric Harris based on seeing that individual in school prior to this date.

According to Austin Eubanks, at the point Dylan Klebold entered the center section of the library, he recalled the forenamed standing between tables 11 and 13. Austin Eubanks went the library. Austin Eubanks recalled when exiting the library, he along with numerous other people were moving in a "group." Austin Eubanks stated at the point he reached the north library exit, he observed a police vehicle parked in a northwesterly direction from that door. Austin Eubanks then pointed out he remembered seeing a "clip" which appeared to have been dropped near the library's north exit door. Austin Eubanks stated he assumed it belonged to the suspects and was unable to provide any additional information concerning that point. Austin Eubanks indicated he along with fellow students leaving the library then proceeded towards the police vehicle and ultimately positioned themselves behind that unit. Austin Eubanks stated it was at that point numerous individuals began receiving first aid. Austin Eubanks explained he subsequently provided his shirt to be used as a bandage for one of the injured students.

Austin Eubanks estimated he was located behind the marked police unit for approximately 15 minutes, after which three to four police vehicles arrived and began to move the most seriously injured students to safety. Austin Eubanks explained he was eventually evacuated and taken to a triage area.

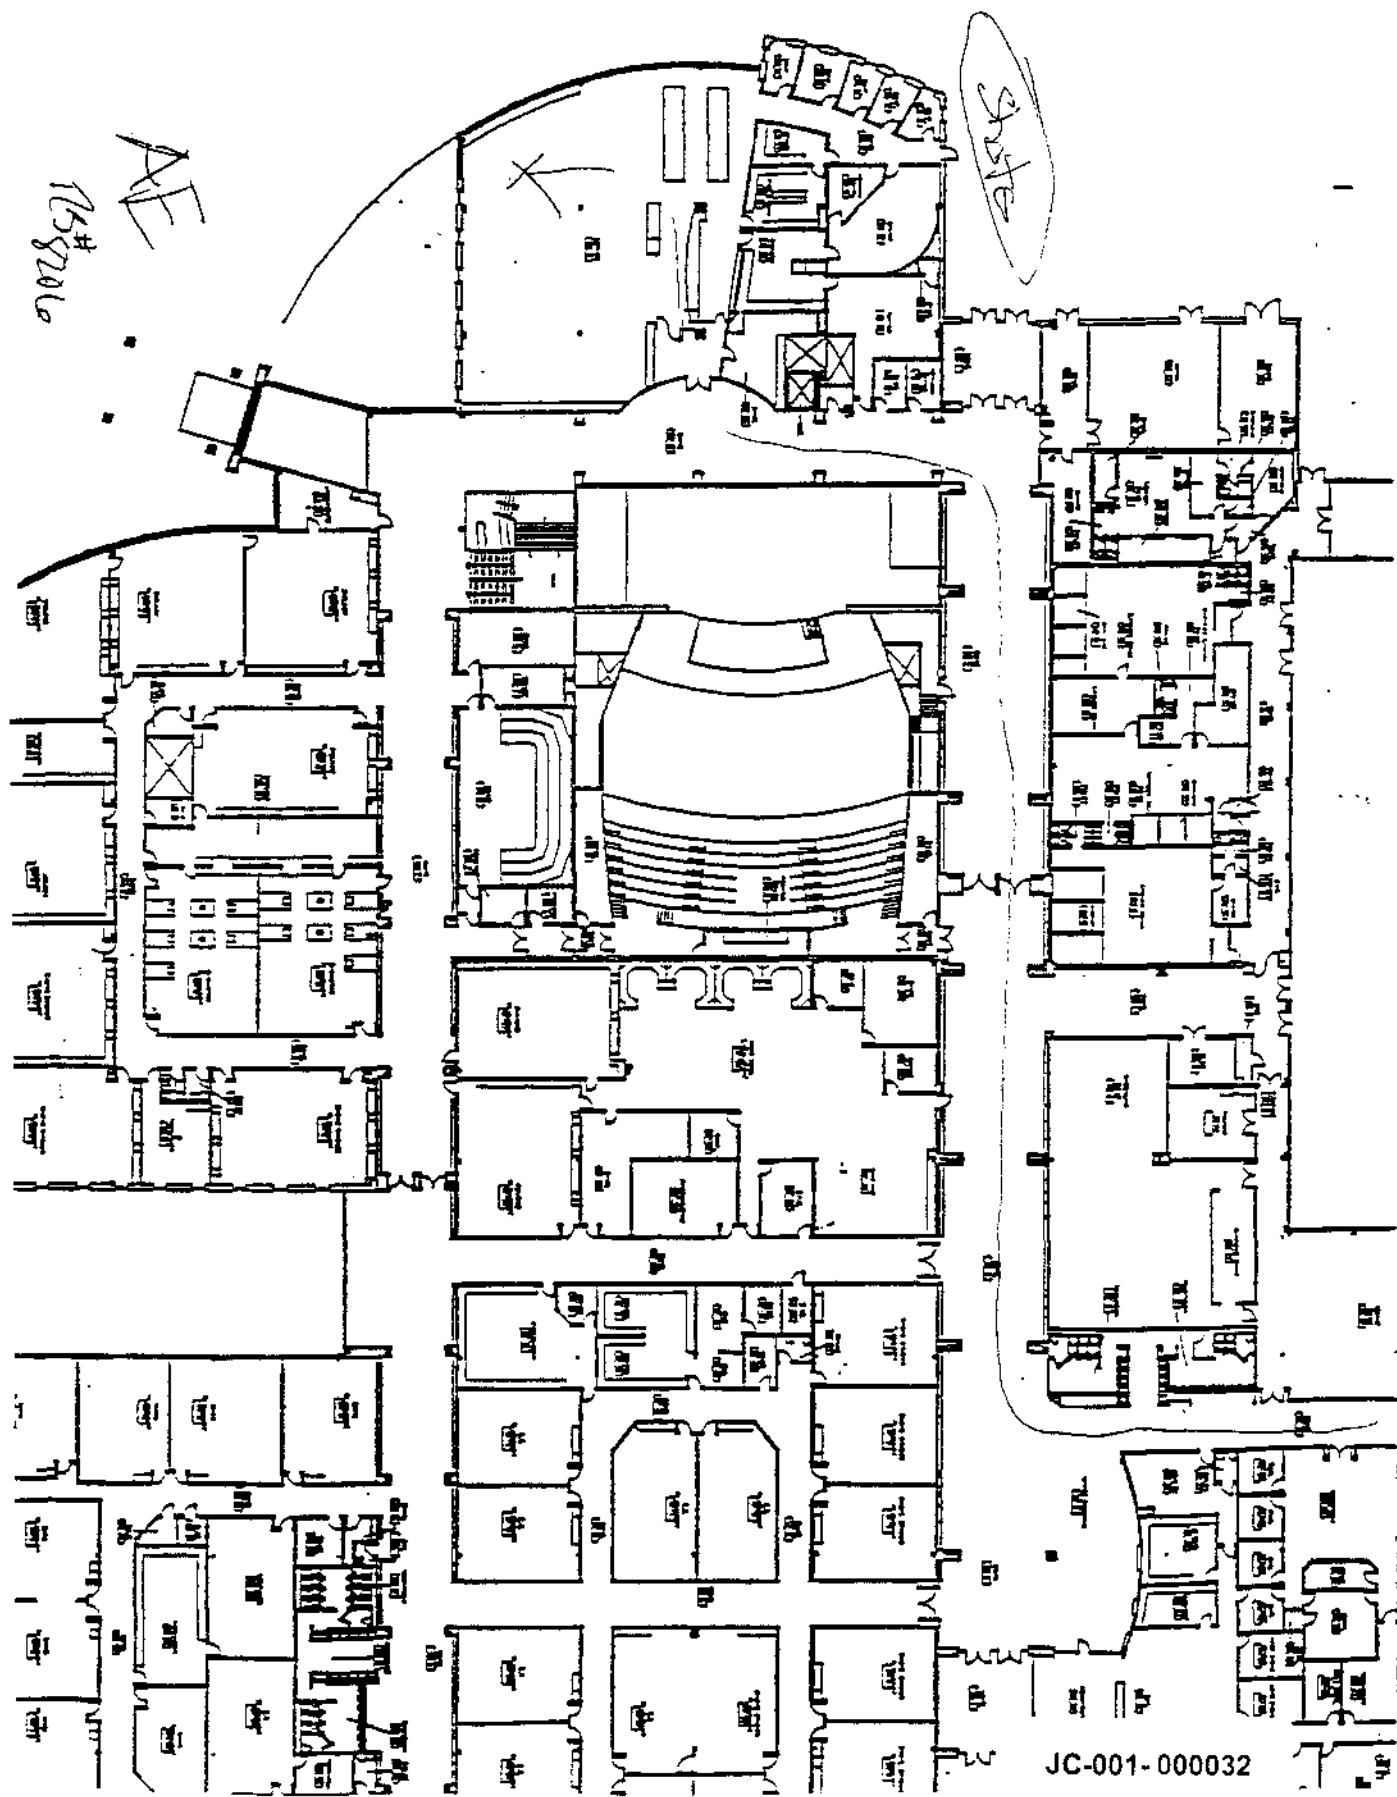

Pursuant to questioning, Austin Eubanks estimated the suspects were in the library for a total of approximately "seven minutes." Austin Eubanks then told IO he did not recall any additional information related to this incident.

On April 20, 1999, at approximately 12:35p.m., the reporting officer was contacted by Captain Jim Collier and directed to report to the command post located at South Pierce Street and West Bowles, Lakewood, Colorado. The reporting officer then responded to the command post. At the command post, the reporting officer was directed to accompany one of the ambulance crews when they began transporting victims to the hospital. The reporting officer was assigned to a Littleton Fire Department ambulance. The crew consisted of Lt. Monte Fleming, John Alyard, Ryan Knautson, and Charlie Martinez. They are all members of the Littleton Fire Department.

At approximately 2:46p.m., the ambulance crew and the reporting officer moved into position and picked up a male victim. He was identified as Patrick John Ireland. His date-of-birth is June 12, 1981. His home address is [REDACTED] [REDACTED] He was suffering from a gunshot wound to the left forehead, a gunshot wound to the right foot, and a laceration of the right inner elbow. At the time he was placed in the ambulance, he was wearing a gray tee-shirt, a white undershirt, blue jeans, socks and a gold colored necklace with a water-ski pendant. He was not wearing shoes. His socks, pants, shirt, and head were covered with blood. Inside the ambulance he was attended to by Firemen Fleming and Knautson. They cut off all of his clothes except his undershorts. These clothes were turned over to the reporting officer who took control of them. He was transported to St. Anthony's Hospital.

Inside the ambulance, the reporting officer asked Mr. Ireland to describe what had occurred. He stated that he was shot by a man who was wearing black clothes and a mask. The man was carrying a long gun. He could not describe the size of the man nor did he recognize the man. He stated there was also a second man who was shooting. This man also wore a mask. He could provide no other description of the second gunman. Mr. Ireland stated that he was in the "emergency room" when he was shot. He could not remember who he was talking to or what he was doing at the time of the shooting. He stated that the shooting surprised him and he did not remember any other gunshots. He stated that he saw neither hand grenades nor bombs. He had no idea who would want to shoot him. He could provide no other details.

At St. Anthony's Hospital, Mr. Ireland was originally treated by Dr. Pi and Dr. Darcy Fisher. Dr. Fisher confirmed that the wound to the forehead and the wound to the foot were both gunshot wounds. She removed one small fragment from the forehead wound. The reporting officer took possession of this fragment. Dr. Fisher stated that surgery would be required to remove the remainder of the bullet. Dr. Fisher removed his underwear and gave these the reporting officer who assumed control of them. Dr. Prall performed the surgery. During the course of the surgery, Ms. Diane Greenburg, a nurse, left the operating room and gave the reporting officer the bullet that had been removed from Mr. Ireland's head. Ms. Greenburg stated that Dr. Prall had removed the bullet and given it to her to give to the reporting officer. The reporting officer also took control of the bullet.

Due to the circumstances, the reporting officer had no SBI forms with him at the time he was at the hospital. The neurosurgeon, Dr. Prall, stated that there was a substantial chance that Mr. Ireland would suffer a permanent loss of physical abilities.

The reporting officer placed all of the evidence in the Denver Police Department property bureau. The property bureau number is 559697. The evidence consists of one metal fragment, one bullet fragment, one watch, one pair of bloody pants with a belt, two bloody socks, one bloody gray shirt, one pair of underwear, and one bloody white undershirt. His wallet with assorted papers and six dollars, his necklace and his keys were placed into personal property under the same invoice number.

On 05/11/99 Detective Boatright (IO) was assigned DN#4874 requesting he contact and interview Patrick Ireland. Within the narrative of the lead, IO was informed property belonging to Patrick Ireland was found in the library subsequent to the incident occurring on 04/20/99. In addition, it was known Patrick Ireland was the student who escaped the library with the assistance of emergency personnel via one of the west library windows. It was determined IO would contact and interview Patrick Ireland to confirm his whereabouts during the incident and any information he had relevant to the investigation.

On 05/13/99 at approximately 0840 hours, IO responded to Craig Hospital located at 3425 So. Clarkson Street, Englewood, Colorado for the purpose of contacting Patrick Ireland. Upon arrival at that location, IO initially met with the forenamed's father identified as John Ireland. At that point IO turned over to John Ireland his son's wallet and contents which IO had previously been removed from evidence at the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department.

IO would note John Ireland had specifically requested the return of his son's wallet in addition to other items. The other items requested could not be returned at the present time due to the ongoing nature of the investigation.

After meeting John Ireland, IO then followed him to a room where the interview was to occur. Upon arrival at that location, IO was introduced to Dr. James C. Schraa (Doctor of Psychology with the Colorado Neurological Institute). IO was informed Dr. Schraa had been assigned follow-up treatment with Patrick Ireland. Dr. Schraa lists his business office as 701 E. Hampden Avenue Suite 330, Englewood, CO 80110-2776, Ph. 303-789-8393. It was determined Dr. Schraa along with both Patrick Ireland's parents would be present for the interview.

On the date indicated at approximately 0900 hours, IO met with Patrick Ireland. Upon contact with Patrick Ireland, IO confirmed his full name is Patrick John Ireland, age 17, dob: 06/12/81. Patrick Ireland indicated he is also known by the first name of "Pat." Patrick Ireland then verified to IO he still resides at Pat Ireland indicated he is presently a junior at Columbine High School.

IO subsequently requested Pat Ireland provide an account of his activities on 04/20/99 beginning at the time he arrived at school. Pat Ireland stated on the date indicated he drove himself to school and recalled arriving at approximately 0715 hours. Pat Ireland stated he normally arrives at school around that time due to the fact he needs to go to his locker before responding to his 1st hour class. Pursuant to questioning, Pat Ireland stated his assigned parking space is #360 which is located in the south junior parking lot. IO further confirmed with Pat Ireland the "junior lot" is located on the south side of Columbine High School. Pat Ireland went onto clarify that he used the southwest lower entrance when entering the school on the date in question. Pat Ireland related he did not recall any unusual activity when he arrived at school. Pat Ireland reiterated he initially went to his locker prior to responding to his 1st period class.

According to Pat Ireland, he then attended his 1st hour class which began at approximately 0730 hours and concludes at approximately 0820 hours. Pat Ireland identified his 1st period class as "Statistics" which is taught by "Mr. Blatchford." Pat Ireland told IO his "Statistics" is located in the "Math Hall" in room "MA8." IO would note classroom MA8 is located in the southeast area of the school.

Pat Ireland explained after leaving his 1st period class he then stopped at his locker to retrieve materials he would need for his 2nd period class. According to Pat Ireland, going to his locker in between 1st and 2nd period was a normal routine.

Pat Ireland explained he then attended his 2nd period class which began at approximately 0825 hours and concluded at approximately 0920 hours. Pat Ireland pointed out he knew the 2nd period class was longer than any of the other classes scheduled during the day due to the fact students receive the morning announcements at that time. Pat Ireland went onto state his 2nd period class is "History" which is taught by "Mr. Fleaner." Pat Ireland told IO his "History" classroom is identified as "SS3" which is located off the "main hall" (north hall) on the east side of the building. Pat Ireland indicated after his 2nd period class ended he again stopped at his locker and retrieved materials he needed for his 3rd period class. Again, Pat Ireland indicated the above activity was his normal routine.

Pat Ireland explained he then attended his 3rd period class which began at approximately 0925 hours and concluded at approximately 1015 hours. Pat Ireland identified his 3rd period class as "Trigonometry" taught by "Mr. Tank." According to Pat Ireland, his "Trigonometry" class is located in the "Math hall" in room "MA2."

Pat Ireland next indicated his 4th period class is "free" adding that he also has "A lunch." Pat Ireland stated it was a common occurrence for he along with others to take their lunch break during 4th period. Pat Ireland stated 4th period begins at approximately 1020 hours and concludes at approximately 1110 hours. On the date in question, Pat Ireland stated he did go to lunch early that day (during 4th period) and recalled going to either "New York Bagels" or the "Mall." According to Pat Ireland, he went to lunch that date with Beth Klepper, Emily Jacobsen, Kyle Mickelson and Christy Mohrbacher. Pursuant to questioning, Pat

Ireland stated Beth Klepper drove the forenamed to lunch. Pat Ireland clarified Beth Klepper parks in the junior parking lot (south side of the school, unknown parking space number) and returned to that same location after coming back from lunch.

Pat Ireland estimated he along with forenamed returned to the school property from lunch sometime prior to 1110 hours. Pat Ireland stated he based that estimation on the fact that he had not heard the bell prior to going to his locker. Pat Ireland was subsequently asked if he recalled any unusual activity during the early morning hours of 04/20/99 to include the time frame when he returned to school from lunch. Pat Ireland responded in the negative indicating as far as he knew the day had been very routine.

Pat Ireland reiterated he returned to Columbine High School from lunch at approximately 1110 hours. Pat Ireland stated he re-entered the school via the southwest lower entrance. Pat Ireland stated he then went to his locker in order to retrieve his Statistics book with the intention of going to the library. Pat Ireland stated his intention was to complete a homework assignment for his Statistics class. Pat Ireland pointed out during "A lunch" he normally went to the library and met with a regular group of friends where they would remain through A lunch. Pat Ireland clarified he would utilize his A lunch time period to either begin or complete homework assignments.

IO clarified with Pat Ireland, when he returned back to Columbine High School from lunch he separated from the above named friends and subsequently responded to his locker and then to the library. IO further clarified with Pat Ireland he was alone after returning from lunch up and to the point he arrived at the library.

Pat Ireland stated when he entered the library he walked to the far west section and found a table where some of his friends were located. IO subsequently supplied Pat Ireland with a diagram of the library and requested he identify the table where he and his friends sat. Pat Ireland immediately pointed to table #15 and placed an X at the southeast corner of that table indicating where he sat. When asked who was present when he arrived, Pat Ireland stated he believed Corey DePooter and Austin Eubanks were the first individuals seated at the table (north side) followed by himself, Makai Hall, and Dan Steepleton. As previously noted, Pat Ireland indicated Corey DePooter and Austin Eubanks were located on the north side of the table, however, he could not be more specific concerning their positioning. In respect to the individuals seated on the south side of the table, Pat Ireland stated he knew he was on the southeast corner and immediately to his left was Makai Hall. Pat Ireland went onto state Dan Steepleton would have then been located on the far west end of table #15 on the south side. Pat Ireland then placed first initials ("D, M & P") near the Xs where he knew Dan Steepleton, Makai Hall and himself were located. IO heard one of the suspects yell, "Anybody with a white hat stand up." Pat Ireland went onto state it was possible the suspect had added to that statement, "Anybody with a white hat or a jock was supposed to stand up." According to Pat Ireland, he was not aware of anyone who complied with that suspect's request. Pat Ireland did point out he was wearing a ball cap that date, but could not describe the hat. Pat Ireland was also unable to recall if he removed the hat after hearing the suspects.

Pat Ireland stated he next heard one of the suspects state, "This is for all the shit you put us through." Pat Ireland stated he then recalled hearing different voices which he believed were coming from the suspects. Pat Ireland clarified he did not actually remember seeing either of the suspects but knew he had heard two distinct voices, however, concluded there were at least two suspects who had entered the library. Pursuant to questioning, Pat Ireland stated the above described statements appeared to be coming from the northwest section of the library. When asked if he could provide any additional information regarding the distinct voices he heard, Pat Ireland responded in the negative. Pat Ireland stated he simply recalled thinking there were at least two suspects in the library based on hearing different voices. Pat Ireland was unable to elaborate on that point.

Pat Ireland stated after hearing the above statements, he then began to hear additional gunshots. According to Pat Ireland, those gunshots were coming from the northwest section of the library. Pat Ireland stated it was at that point he then realized Makai Hall had been shot. IO confirmed with Pat Ireland up to that point he had basically held his head down with his eyes closed, thus he was not able to visually observe the suspects. When asked how he became aware of Makai Hall being shot, Pat Ireland stated he heard "Makai's groans." When hearing the groans Pat Ireland stated it caused him to open his eyes and look towards where Makai Hall was located. According to Pat Ireland, at the time he looked at Makai Hall, he could see the forenamed had been shot and there was blood flowing from his right knee. Pat Ireland stated it was around that same time frame he also observed blood on Dan Steepleton's foot but was not clear as to whether or not Dan Steepleton had been shot.

Pat Ireland next reported either prior to realizing Makai Hall had been shot or soon thereafter, he began "playing dead." Pat Ireland stated while "playing dead" he remembered "holding my breath." Pat Ireland clarified he could not specifically recall when he attempted to play dead during the incident but knew obviously it was prior to when he was shot.

Pat Ireland went onto state at some point during this incident he remembered moving to the west towards Makai Hall for the purpose of providing that individual with first aid. Pat Ireland stated he remembered moving over towards Makai Hall on his hands and knees and eventually positioned himself somewhat behind Makai Hall and library. It was at that point IO verified with Pat Ireland when he awakened he made a conscious decision to leave the library. When asked to elaborate on that point, Pat Ireland stated he remembered seeing the "windows" and thinking that was "my way out." Pat Ireland then made reference to "escaping out the window."

Pat Ireland stated at some point after awakening and determining he was going to move towards the west windows, he started crawling across the floor. Pat Ireland stated at that point he was aware of the fact he could only use his left arm and left leg when engaging in that activity. Pat Ireland reported as he started to move in a northwesterly direction towards the windows he believed he had "blacked out" several times before he reached his destination. Pat Ireland stated as he was crawling he did remember having to "move chairs." Pat Ireland then described sliding chairs out of his way as he attempted to crawl in a northwesterly direction towards the windows. Pat Ireland was unable to be more specific concerning that point.

Pat Ireland was then asked to describe the path he believed he had taken when exiting the library. Pat Ireland subsequently drew a line beginning on the north side of table #15 in a northwesterly direction which ended at the area where the west windows were located. Pat Ireland pointed out he had absolutely no idea how long it took him to crawl from his original position to the window where he eventually escaped the library. Pat Ireland did state when he arrived at the windows he realized he had lost his right shoe but again had no real explanation for how that occurred.

At this point in the interview IO stopped Pat Ireland for the purpose of asking additional questions specific to the point when he originally awakened. IO confirmed with Pat Ireland that when he awakened he believed he was facing a westerly direction. When asked if he ever recalled looking south in the library, specifically in the direction of table #15, Pat Ireland stated he was uncertain. When asked if he recalled seeing anyone as he crawled towards the west windows, Pat Ireland again responded in the negative. Pat Ireland then stated he did remember seeing one person who was located under the far south computer table towards the west end. Pat Ireland described that individual as a male student with light colored hair. Pat Ireland pointed out he did not see that individual until about the time he reached the west windows to the library. Pat Ireland stated based on what he knows now he feels that person was deceased. Pat Ireland was unable to provide any additional information related to that observation. For purposes of clarification, Pat Ireland did not recall seeing any other individuals in the library from the point he awakened until he reached the west windows.

When asked to describe what occurred when he arrived at the windows, Pat Ireland stated he remembered seeing a "blue" chair which was facing east (pushed up against the west wall). Pat Ireland stated he used the south side of that chair to pull himself up onto the window ledge. Pat Ireland described using the left side of his body to pull himself up onto the window ledge. IO clarified with Pat Ireland he would have been facing an easterly direction (back to the west wall) at the time he engaged in that activity.

Pat Ireland reported once he was able to pull himself up onto the window ledge he then "swept glass away" in an effort to clear a path to crawl over. Pat Ireland told IO he did not recall feeling any pain in his head or foot from the time he awakened.

Pat Ireland stated his next recollection occurred as he had started to position himself on the window ledge. Pat Ireland stated it was at that point he began to hear "screaming." Pat Ireland stated he did not initially understand what was being yelled but later heard someone telling him to "stay." Pat Ireland reported to IO he was very "confused" at that point adding "I can't see who's yelling at me."

Pat Ireland stated moments later he then heard a voice yell up to him it was "okay to jump." Pat Ireland explained he next "leaned out the window." Pat Ireland told IO he did not recall being caught or placed down onto the roof of the truck. According to Pat Ireland, he had no recollection of dropping out of the window of the library. Pat Ireland explained after leaning out the window of the library his next recollection was when he was being spoken to by emergency care personnel. Pat Ireland related he remembered he was trying to tell emergency workers his name pointing out he believed he was responding to questions regarding contact information as it pertained to his father. Pat Ireland stated he believed that activity was occurring while inside an ambulance. Pat Ireland was unable to expound on that point.

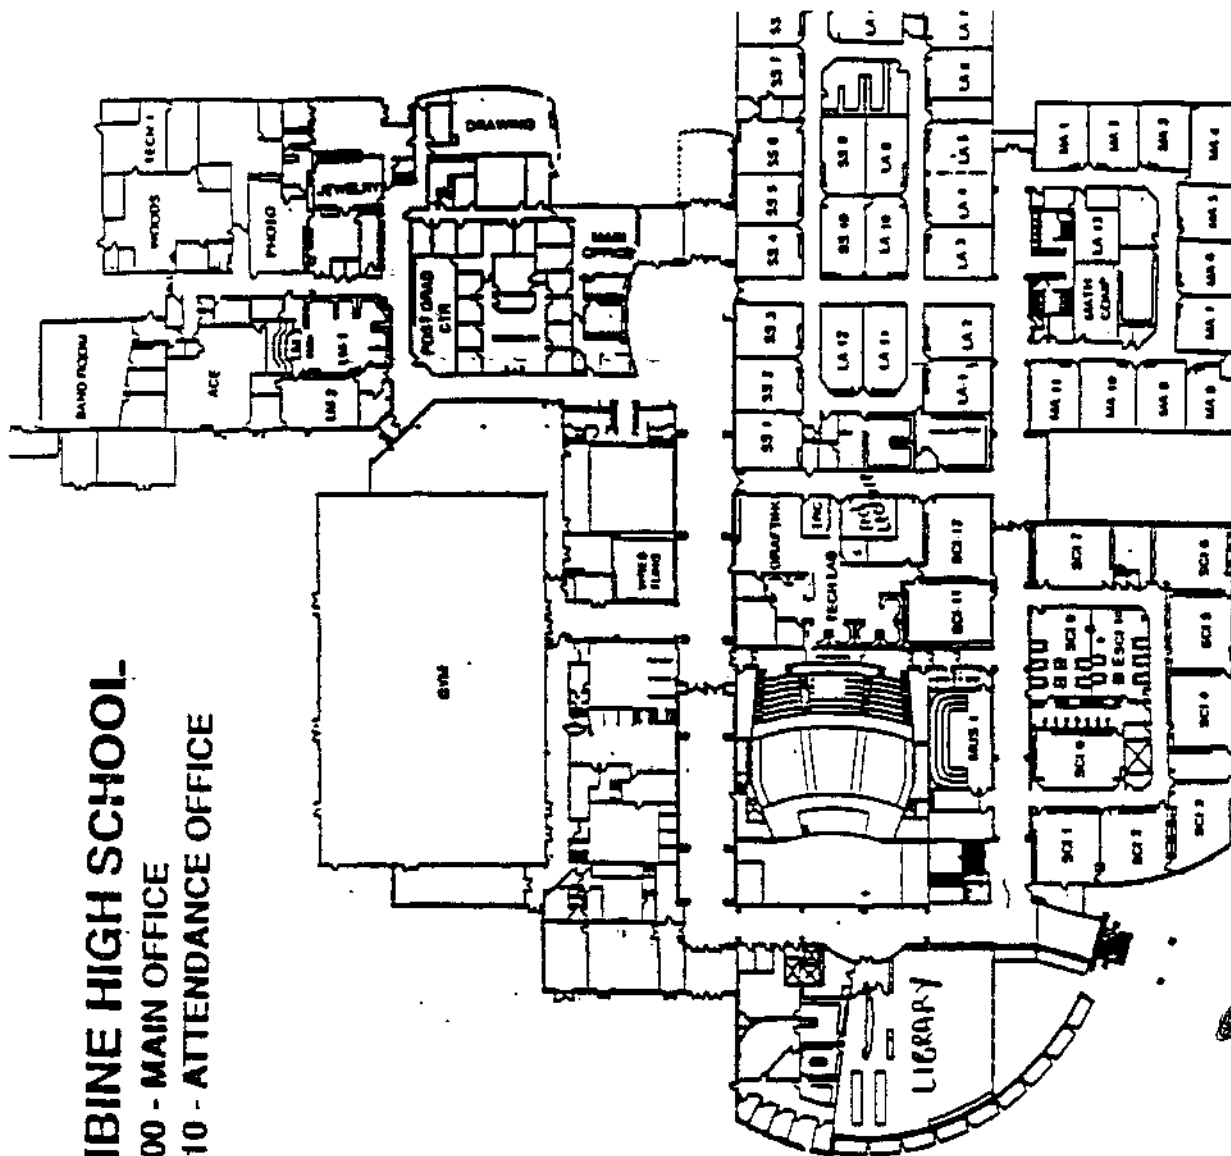

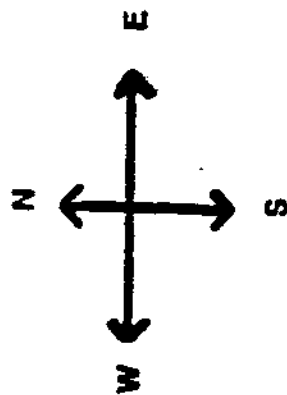

Pat Ireland was next asked if he could recall any additional details related to this incident, either prior to or after he had been shot. Pat Ireland thought for a moment and then recalled hearing the suspects "laughing" prior to the time he was shot. Pat Ireland indicated he was unable to recall any additional information at this time. IO would note it was pointed out by Dr. Schraa due to the nature of Pat Ireland's injury it was possible as time went on he could recall additional details. Pat Ireland did agree to contact IO in the future if he had additional recollections.

In respect to Pat Ireland's injuries, IO was informed the forenamed had two gunshot wounds to the head and one to the right foot. IO would note one of the projectiles lodged in Pat Ireland's head was removed during surgery and turned over to law enforcement as evidence. As of the date of this interview, IO has not seen any medical reports associated with Pat Ireland. See the diagrams utilized by Pat Ireland for complete details.

questioning, Mark Kintgen stated no one else was at table #1 when he arrived, however, a short time later he remembered a female student who sat at the northeast corner of the table. Mark Kintgen further explained he believed the unidentified female was associated with a table of girls who were seated at table #2. Mark Kintgen indicated he could not identify the girls who were seated at table #2. As the discussion continued, Mark Kintgen stated the girl whom he was unable to identify who had sat his table subsequently left and he could not recall where she went. Mark Kintgen described the unidentified female as having lighter colored hair (average size) with a tan shirt and blue jeans. Mark Kintgen did clarify after leaving the library he saw that same female located behind one of the patrol cars. Mark Kintgen stated he was certain she had survived the incident in the library. As Mark Kintgen continued to discuss that point, he then recalled it was possible one of the girls located at table #2 was "Diwata Perez." Mark Kintgen clarified he did not know Diwata Perez but heard she was one of the girls located at table #2.

When asked what occurred next, Mark Kintgen stated he recalled reading his magazine but did take note of the fact "Mrs. Keating" (Librarian) was not at her "usual desk." Mark Kintgen stated he did not recall seeing Mrs. Keating in the library before, during or after this incident. Mark Kintgen did relate he remembered Mrs. Weld and Mrs. Kean being present in the library prior to the incident. Mark Kintgen stated the forenamed individuals were seen somewhere to the north in the library, however, he could not be more specific. Mark Kintgen did clarify Ms. Weld and Ms. Kean were librarian assistants.

Mark Kintgen next stated he knew there was a student assistant assigned to the library for 5th period, however, he did not recall seeing that individual being present. When asked to identify the student assistant, Mark Kintgen stated he knew her first name was "Amber," however, he did not recall her last name. IO would note "Amber" was later identified as Amber Huntington. IO further verified with Mark Kintgen Amber Huntington was a student assistant he routinely saw in the library during 5th period.

IO asked Mark Kintgen to describe what occurred after he began reading his magazine. Mark Kintgen stated he remembered looking through the magazine for approximately five minutes during which time he began hearing "banging noises like hammers." Mark Kintgen stated during that five minute period he believed he heard at least three separate banging noises, again referring to the sound as "hammering." Mark Kintgen told IO the aforementioned noises did not cause him any concern nor did he perceive anyone else in the library was concerned regarding those same noises.

Mark Kintgen related at approximately 1125 hours he then recalled "Ms. Nielsen" entering the library via the east entrance. Mark Kintgen stated Ms. Nielsen was in the company of a male two individuals enter the library via the east entrance. When asked to describe the suspects, Mark Kintgen stated based on his positioning he did not recall seeing the suspects from the waist up. Mark Kintgen stated he remembered both suspects were wearing "black boots" and both had "black pants." Mark Kintgen related he had heard reports the suspects were wearing "trench coats," however, he could not confirm that point. IO confirmed with Mark Kintgen he saw two sets of legs enter the library around the time he began to hear the "fire alarm" and both those individuals were wearing black pants and black boots. Mark Kintgen stated it appeared as though the black boots were of a military style.

When asked if he remembered seeing anything else associated with the suspects, Mark Kintgen responded in the affirmative. Mark Kintgen stated he did remember one of the suspects was carrying a weapon which he described as a "automatic with a long clip." Mark Kintgen stated the aforementioned weapon appeared shorter than a rifle and was dark in color. Mark Kintgen related the reason he assumed the weapon was "automatic" was due to the fact it had a "clip." Mark Kintgen was unable to supply any information to distinguish which suspect was in possession of that weapon. When asked how he was able to see that weapon, Mark Kintgen speculated it was possibly carried low or he simply focused on it, thus failing to recognize any additional clothing items worn by the suspects.

Mark Kintgen reported as the suspects entered the library he could see that they proceeded west. Mark Kintgen stated as the suspects were walking in between the main counter and the reference desk he heard one of them state words to the effect "Everyone stand up." Mark Kintgen then related it was at that point he began to hear "gunshots." Mark Kintgen could not recall the number of gunshots but knew it was more than one. Mark Kintgen stated very soon after the gunshots initially stopped he heard one of the suspects state, "Oh look at his brains." Mark Kintgen then recalled hearing the suspects "laugh." Mark Kintgen pointed out the suspects continuously laughed throughout the incident at various times.

Mark Kintgen went onto state at about the same time he heard the first gunshots in the library he remembered "seeing smoke." Mark Kintgen did describe the smoke as "white or gray" in color. Mark Kintgen was unable to be more specific concerning the smoke in terms of whether or not it originated in the library or had drifted in from the hall. Mark Kintgen stated he was certain at that point the fire alarm was activated.

Mark Kintgen went onto state while the suspects remained on the west side of the library he heard additional gunshots. Mark Kintgen was unable to estimate the number of gunshots but knew they were numerous. Mark Kintgen stated he also believed he could "yells or screams," however, he could not be certain if the voices he was hearing were students or the suspects. Mark Kintgen did indicate he was certain the "laughing" he heard was coming from the suspects.

Mark Kintgen stated almost as soon as the gunshots ended on the west side of the library he began to hear them on the east side of the library. Mark Kintgen stated he was certain he had not heard any gunshots which he believed were coming from the center section of the library up to this point. IO subsequently clarified with Mark Kintgen when the suspects entered the library they proceeded to the far west section where gunshots were heard following by gunshots erupting in the far east section where he was located. Mark Kintgen reiterated up to this point he had not heard any gunshots in the middle section of the library.

Mark Kintgen was then asked to describe what occurred as he began to hear gunshots on the east side of the library. Mark Kintgen began his explanation by stating he only actually saw one suspect on the east side of the library. Mark Kintgen explained the suspect he observed at that point was on the north side of the glass case near the entrance to the library. Mark Kintgen stated he was certain the suspect then fired at least one shot into the glass case causing the glass to break. Mark Kintgen explained it was right after the suspect shot out the glass case that he (Mark Kintgen) was shot. Mark Kintgen initially stated it was possible the suspect had shot at him through the glass case, however, he was not certain. Mark Kintgen went onto explain that there were mirrors located in the glass case which possibly distorted his view of what was actually occurring. Mark Kintgen related he was certain the person who had fired into the glass case was the same person who shot him adding it was possible the suspect had stepped back around the glass case prior to firing under his table.

When asked to describe the weapon being used by the suspect who shot into the glass case and later shot under his table Mark Kintgen stated it was the "automatic" previously described in this report. When asked if that was the same gun which was used to shoot under his table, Mark Kintgen stated he assumed that was the case, however, was not certain. IO clarified with Mark Kintgen, he was able to observe the weapon used by the suspect when firing into the glass case, however, he could not be certain as to the weapon used when fired under his table. Mark Kintgen did state he was certain the person who fired into the glass case was the same person who shot at him under the table. As Mark Kintgen continued to relate his recollection of that incident, he believed the suspect had stepped around from the glass case prior to shooting under his table. Mark Kintgen was unable to be more specific concerning that point. IO did confirm with Mark Kintgen the only description he could give of the suspect whom he saw shoot into the glass case and later under his table was consistent with that person wearing black boots and black pants.

When asked what occurred at the point he was shot, Mark

IO next asked Mark Kintgen to describe what occurred after he began to follow Patti Blair west through the library. Mark Kintgen stated he could not recall the specific path of travel he took but did remember seeing someone lying under the table marked #9. Mark Kintgen stated based on that observation he was certain he somehow walked through the center section of the library prior to proceeding north towards the exit. Mark Kintgen next stated as he began to proceed north through the library (near the computer tables) he remembered seeing another individual on the floor at that location. Mark Kintgen was unable to be anymore specific concerning either of the individuals he referenced as he left the library.

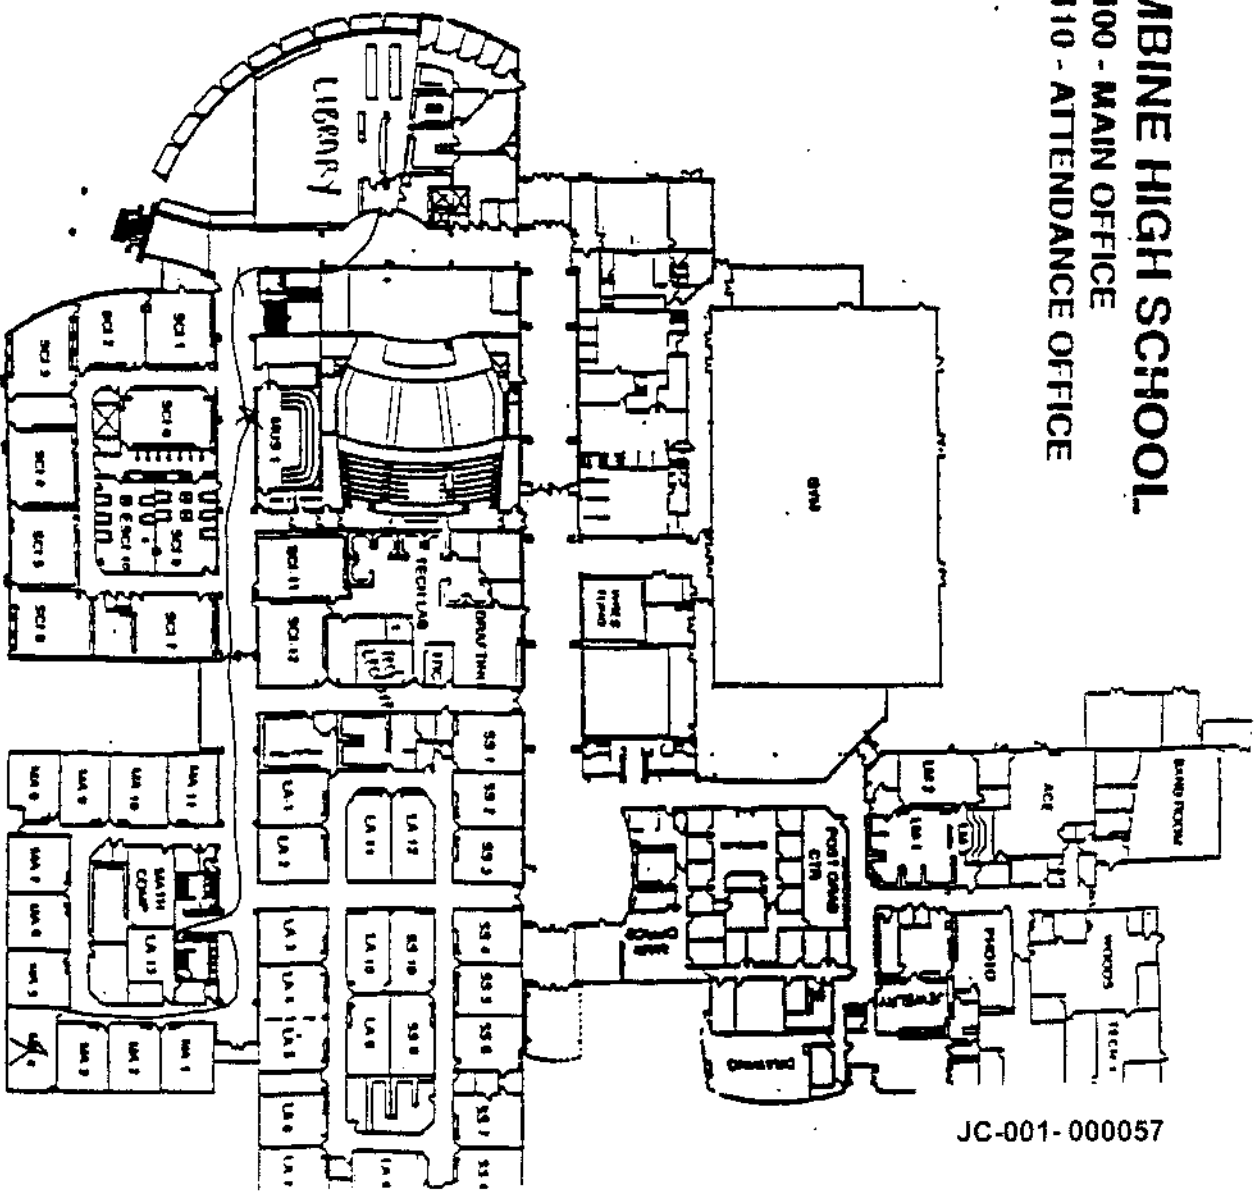

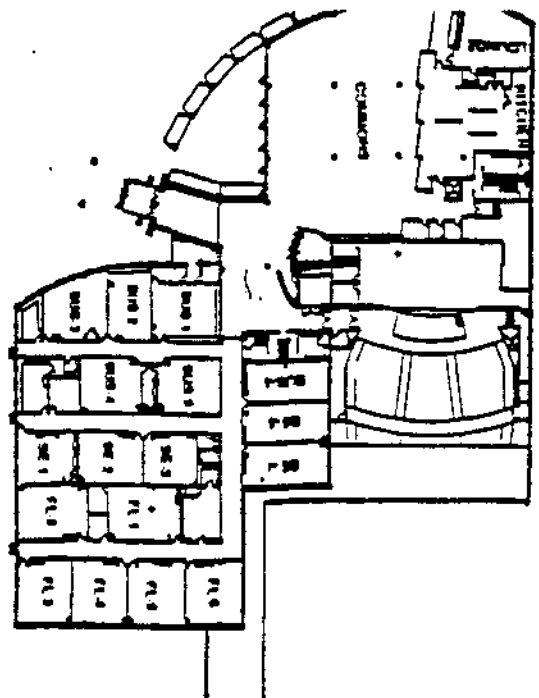

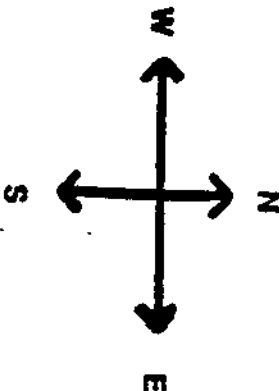

Mark Kintgen did state as he was leaving the library he believed he began to see other people also moving through the library towards the north exit. Mark Kintgen stated he eventually made his way to the north exit at which point he observed a marked patrol unit parked northwest of that location. Mark Kintgen reported he then proceeded towards the marked patrol unit. Mark Kintgen told IO when he arrived at that location he believed there were approximately 20 to 30 other students present. When asked if he could identify any of those students, Mark Kintgen again made reference to the unidentified female who had originally sat down at his table and then moved. Mark Kintgen clarified he had seen that same female hiding behind the marked patrol unit at the time he arrived at that location. Mark Kintgen added he also saw another student whom he identified as "Josh Lapp." Mark Kintgen stated he did not believe he could recall the names of any additional students at that location.

Mark Kintgen estimated he remained behind the marked patrol unit for approximately 10 to 15 minutes prior to being "evacuated." Mark Kintgen briefly described being placed in the trunk of a patrol unit and driven to a nearby neighborhood. Mark Kintgen stated at that point he was transported by "helicopter" to Denver Health Medical. Mark Kintgen told IO he did not believe he could recall any additional information at this time.

IO subsequently obtained a written authorization for release of medical records pertaining to Mark Alan Kintgen. The document indicates the medical records were being maintained at Denver Health Medical. IO would note Mark Kintgen's father, Dale Kintgen, signed the form authorizing the release of the medical records. IO subsequently concluded his interview with Mark Kintgen. IO would note also present at the residence was Michael Kintgen (twin brother to Mark Kintgen). It was determined IO would conduct an interview with Michael Kintgen in order to expedite the investigative process. IO would point out Michael Kintgen was not present during the interview of Mark Kintgen. See the interview of Michael Kintgen for details.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of transcription 5/12/99Lisa Michelle Kreutz, date of birth January 14, 1981,
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED], was interviewed at her home in the presence of her parents, Ken and Sheryl Kreutz. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing Agent and Diane Obbema, Investigator, Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, Kreutz furnished the following information:

Kreutz is a Senior at Columbine High School. Her first class of the day is Trigonometry with Mr. Tank. This class is during second period which runs from 8:25 a.m. to 9:20 a.m. This class period is extended an extra five minutes for school announcements to be made. The Rebel News Network is broadcast over televisions within the classrooms. Her class really didn't pay attention to the announcements on a regular basis. On April 20, 1999, Kreutz wasn't really paying attention to the announcements and does not recall anything that seemed unusual. Period three runs from 9:25 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. During this period, Kreutz has Accounting with Mr. Stoeklen. Her fourth period class is Psychology with T.J., last name unknown. Kreutz couldn't recall the teacher's last name as they all refer to him as T.J. This class runs from 10:20 a.m. to 11:10 a.m. Fifth period, or A lunch, begins at 11:15 a.m. This is Kreutz's lunch period and she usually goes to the Library or out to lunch with Jessica Holliday and Bethany Koch. Prior to going to lunch or the Library, she would typically go to her locker and exchange school books.

On April 20, 1999, after fourth period, Kreutz did not go to her locker to exchange school books. Instead she went to the Post Graduate Center and picked up an application for the University of Colorado at Denver. She then walked down the hall to the Library. In the Library, Kreutz would usually sit with Holliday, Jenna Park and Dewata Perez on the east side of the Library. She entered the Library at approximately 11:15 a.m. Holliday was already in the Library at table #2. Kreutz met Perez and Park in the Library or possibly at or near her locker. Kreutz was in the middle of Park and Holliday on the east side of the table #2, facing west. On the west side of the table was Lauren Townsend and Perez. There may have been another girl in the middle of the west side of the table. At that time, the Library was pretty full but Kreutz could not remember seeing anybody else she knew. There are two reading chairs with a small table between them, next to table #2 and against the east wall. There may have been someone seated at one of the reading chairs.

A couple of minutes after sitting down, Holliday left their table and went over to the computer area on the west side of the Library. At about that time, Kreutz heard popping sounds coming from outside the west part of the Library. The sounds were like a hammer striking a wall. Within a minute, a blonde haired student came into the Library and stated, "Where's Miss Keating"? and "He has a gun." Kreutz believed this to be a student as she appeared too young to be an adult. The student then went behind the librarian's counter. Kreutz did not know if she should believe what the student said or not and thought it may have been another senior prank. A week prior, in a senior prank the Seniors closed off the Junior Parking Lot.

A couple minutes later, and no more than five minutes later, a lady came into the Library and said to get under the tables. The students all hesitated and she yelled again to get under the tables. Right behind this lady was Mr. Place, who came into the Library doors and said something to somebody that "we have to get these kids out of here." Place then left the Library. Attachment A is a diagram of the Columbine High School Library. Kreutz indicated on the diagram the sitting positions of the students at table #2. Kreutz, Perez, Townsend and Park all hide underneath their table. Kreutz was sitting under the table with her knees pulled up to her chest and she was facing north. From her position, she could see out a window near her table into the hallway outside the Library and the area between the trophy case toward the reference table. The window was in the upper portion of the wall. At that point, Kreutz began hearing screaming coming from the area she believed to be the Commons. Through the window to the hall outside the Library, she saw a white male coming toward the Library. He was moving from south to north like he had come from down by the Commons. He was headed toward the Library and had a determined look on his face. Her view of this person was only from about the shoulders up and she described him with blonde hair and dressed in dark colors. Kreutz indicated on the Library diagram the approximate location of the individual in the hallway.

The door to the Library is always propped open and she could hear two people coming into the Library. She remembers hearing one of the gunmen say to the other one, "Are you still with me?" and "We're still gonna do this, right?" After entering the Library the gunmen started yelling and moved to the west side of the Library. She heard one of the gunmen say they were going to "blow up the Library". This statement was followed by an explosion in the Library. Kreutz began hearing windows breaking, gunfire and lots of screaming. She could not recall specifically how much gunfire she heard on the west side of the Library. She did hear a statement from one of the gunmen that they hated school and that school had messed them up. The fire alarm went off during the shooting on the west side of the Library. Park's sister, a Freshman, was sitting by the computer tables. Park kept saying that she had to get her sister. Perez had to hold down Park to keep her from leaving the table. Perez told Park that Holliday was at the computer table and would take care of her sister. Kreutz thought the gunmen then moved to the middle section of the Library as the sounds of gunshots and screams were getting closer to her. She could not recall any specifics of the gunmen's movement or comments in the middle section.

After what she believes is gunshots in the middle section, she can hear a gunman moving up around from behind her, back near table #4 and the wall. Townsend and one of the girls were praying underneath the table. Somebody under the table said "oh my God their coming". At the same time, she can see a gunman in her view between the trophy case and the reference table. She sees this gunman only from the chest down but can see a shotgun with possibly two barrels in his left hand. He was holding the gun down. He was wearing dark clothing and had something over his shirt or jacket. It was different in color than his shirt and appeared to cross over his chest and then over his shoulder. The girls had pulled the chairs in around the table and her view was being blocked. Kreutz then hears a gunshot and was grazed in her right wrist by a bullet. Kreutz remembers thinking at that point that it didn't really hurt to be shot. She believes it was the gunman that she saw between the reference table and trophy case that shot at her table.

To her right she saw Val Schnuur falling to the ground. Schnuur may have been running or crawling away from the gunman that was moving up behind their table. Schnuur had gotten shot and Kreutz could see her holding her side. Schnuur was screaming and then Kreutz heard a gunman from behind her ask Schnuur if she believed in God. The gunman asked it again and she recalls Schnuur answering back "no." At that point, Schnuur was laying on the ground next to table #2 on the east side. The gunman may have shot Schnuur again. In the course of this questioning of Schnuur or just at the completion of it, Kreutz got shot several times. Kreutz does not know if the shooting came from the gunman behind her or the gunman she saw by the trophy case. Kreutz got shot in the left shoulder, right wrist, right ankle and a shot through the buttock which also goes somehow through her inner thigh. Kreutz cannot recall if Townsend was shot at the same time she was or was shot just prior to her. After the gunshots, she could see Townsend laying down on the floor "gasping" with one of the other girls holding her. The two guns that had been shot at her table sounded different. Kreutz did not think the gunmen were really aiming their guns. She thought they were just shooting without aiming at anyone.

174A-DN-57419

After being shot, Kreutz does not remember if there was more gunfire and explosions within the Library. She does remember Schnuur moving from her spot, as Kreutz could no longer see her. After a period of no longer than ten minutes, the Library got really quiet. Kreutz did not see the gunmen leave the Library. Kreutz heard something, possibly gunshots, that gave her the impression that the gunmen were gone from the Library. The gunmen had been gone a long enough period of time that the students felt that they were not coming back to the Library. Park and Perez got up and tried to get Kreutz to leave with them. Kreutz was unable to leave with them. Kreutz believes Park and Perez went through the bookcases by table #1 and exited out that side of the Library. Kreutz saw a number of students get up and leave. After the students had left the Library, Kreutz was laying down under her table and heard the school bell ring. This was the 11:45 bell, which meant her lunch period was over. The fire alarm was still going off at that time.

Kreutz remembers another girl crawling up and laying her head down by her. The girl had blonde hair. Kreutz did not know the girl. Kreutz continued to lay under her table and heard the 11:50 a.m. bell and then the 12:10 and 12:15 p.m. bells. These bells meant that the "A" and "B" lunches were over. Kreutz continued to listen to the various bells for the class periods go off. The bells were how she kept track of time.

Kreutz heard a helicopter flying around outside the school and knew the police were outside the school. Kreutz remembers hearing two to three explosions in the Library while the gunmen were inside the Library. She heard another explosion in the Library or outside the Library after all the students had gotten up and left the Library. She also remembers hearing glass breaking again and someone say something to the effect of "hey you in the Library." She doesn't remember when, but she heard police officers yelling from an area she thought was outside the south windows of the Library.

Kreutz believes she was conscious the whole time she was laying under the table in the Library. She wasn't really paying attention and was mostly looking at the top of the table. She knew her wrist was broken and she couldn't move either of her arms. She remembers hearing the 2:30 p.m. bell ring as it just kept on ringing. A couple of times she did try to get up and leave the Library. She tried once before the 2:30 bell to get up and leave, but got "light headed". After trying to get up, she got back down underneath her table. She believes she tried again after the 2:30 bell and ended up laying down then between tables #1 and #2.

Kreutz remembers later hearing the gunmen talking in the Library or outside the Library. The voices sounded further away but she laid very still, pretending to be dead. She didn't want the shooting to start all over again. She does recall somebody coming back into the Library while she was lying down but does not recall any details.

After trying to get up and leave following the 2:30 bell, she remembers hearing the police yelling. The yelling was in the hallway from outside the Library and the sounds sounded like they were in a hurry. She heard them come in and she called for help. One of the SWAT officers came over to her. This officer told her she was the only one alive in the Library. They did not take her immediately out of the Library and one SWAT officer stayed with her. The next thing she remembers is a paramedic coming in and talking to her about whether she was hurt. The paramedic rolled her onto her shoulder to look at her back and she remembers excruciating pain. She was put on a board and remembers hearing the officer saying they had to get her out of there in a hurry.

Kreutz does remember the glass bookcase/trophy case shattering. She does not remember when this occurred. It may have been caused by the SWAT team.

Kreutz has a navy blue Eddie Bauer backpack which she left on top of the table. Inside the backpack are a graphing calculator, her wallet, two sets of car keys and school papers, including folders. She would like to get one set of the car keys back as those are the only two sets of keys for her car. Her grandfather had to pay a locksmith to help them get the car out of the school parking lot. Kreutz had been transferring information from her application to University of Colorado at Denver to a new application. She was recopying it to make it more legible. There was a $40 check for admission fees with the application.

Kreutz' locker is in the Math hall area and is locker #480, #180 or something in the eighties. She had nothing valuable in her locker except books and papers. Attachment B is a diagram of Columbine High School. Kreutz indicated on the diagram the location of her locker.

Kreutz remembers a paramedic taking off her Eyore watch and throwing it into her shoes. She was also wearing jewelry, including her class ring and a birthstone ring. Kreutz would like to get back her watch and two rings.

A hand-drawn map of a site, likely a cemetery or a planned area, with various numbered and labeled sections. The map is oriented with a north arrow pointing towards the top right. The site is bounded by a curved line on the left and a straight line on the bottom. The top of the map shows a large, irregularly shaped area, possibly a building or a large plot, with a semi-circular section. Below this, there are several rectangular plots, some of which are numbered. The numbered plots are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some plots being larger than others. The plots are numbered 1 through 20. Plot 1 is a large rectangular plot in the upper right. Plot 2 is a small rectangular plot below Plot 1. Plot 3 is a rectangular plot to the left of Plot 2. OBSERVATION/INVESTIGATION:

On Tuesday, 04-20-99, at approx. 1240 hrs., I was sent to Adventist Porter Hospital - Littleton, to interview victims and witnesses of the shooting at Columbine High School. While at the hospital, I interviewed a victim from the shooting, Patricia K. NIELSON.

Ms. Nielson told me she was standing in the north corridor hall, doing her assigned "hall duty", at approx. 1120 hrs., when she saw a male student, on the west end of the hall, carrying what she thought was a gun into the school. Ms. Nielson said she was taken by surprise and asked another male student walking past her what was going on. Ms. Nielson said the student told her the student was probably "...shooting a movie", and that the gun was probably a cap gun used as a prop in the movie. Ms. Nielson said the unknown male student she was talking with said the student she saw with the gun was with the video productions class. Ms. Nielson said she didn't think it was right, cap gun or not, that he have it at school, so she went to confront the student. Ms. Nielson said as she walked through a set of double doors where the student was, the student began firing the gun. Ms. Nielson said the student then turned and saw her, looked right her, and shot at her and the male student she was with. Ms. Nielson said the bullet traveled past her and hit the glass in the door behind her and some of the glass, or a fragment from the bullet, hit her in the back of the shoulder. Ms. Nielson said she yelled "Dear God! Dear God! Dear God!" and turned with the male student she was with, when she heard the male student say, "Uhhhhh!" Ms.

Nielson said she saw the student had been shot in the back and they continued to run the opposite way and ran into the library. As she ran into the library, Ms. Nielson said she began screaming for help for the student and ran to the phone and dialed "9911" (she had to dial 9 first to dial 911 to get an outside line). Ms. Nielson said Ms. Keeting, the librarian, and Mr. Lawn (unk. spelling), came in and told everyone to get out of the library. As she was on the phone, Ms. Nielson said she could hear the gunman getting closer, so she told the students to get under the tables, while she stayed on the phone with the 911 dispatcher. Ms. Nielson said the dispatcher asked her if she could get to the doors to lock them and Ms. Nielson told the dispatcher she couldn't. At this time, Ms. Nielson said something made her aware there were more than two gunmen, but didn't know what it was. Ms. Nielson heard a great deal of gunshots and "hooting it up" from the suspect, so she continued to tell the students to stay under the tables. As Ms. Nielson was able to determine the gunmen were coming into the library, she did not want the gunmen to know she was on the phone with 911, so she left the phone on the floor and crawled up as far under the librarian's desk as she could. Ms. Nielson said she saw the gunmen walk past where she was and they stopped and she saw they both had on black military type pants. Ms. Nielson said she heard someone crying and say, "Oh God!" and one of the gunmen asked her, "Do you believe in God?" and began calling her "...awful and hateful names!" Ms. Nielson said she then heard a lot more gunfire and they walked around by her desk again. While standing in front of the desk she was under, Ms. Nielson said one of them stopped and said, "Wait a minute! One more thing!" and she heard a chair being smashed on top of the desk she was under. After the noises stopped, Ms. Nielson said she looked around the end of the desk and saw a student wearing a pair of tennis shoes and wondered if the student was alive or dead. Ms. Nielson said she crawled into the library's workroom and saw two women, one wearing a purple dress, hiding in another room off the workroom. Ms. Nielson said she then crawled inside a cupboard and shut the doors. Ms. Nielson added, she stayed in the cupboard for approx. three hours, and recalls it was approx. 1145 when she crawled inside the cupboard. While in the cupboard, Ms. Nielson said she heard a lot of gunfire coming from the library area again and heard the beeping of what she thought to be bombs. Ms. Nielson said she stayed in the cupboard and remembered seeing the lady in the purple dress came in the workroom and checked on Ms. Nielson. Ms. Nielson added, she also remembers taking her sweater off, while in the cupboard, because she was so hot. Ms. Nielson said she heard the suspect's saying they were going to blow the library up, but she could not get out for fear of being shot. After being in the cupboard for approx. three hours, Ms. Nielson said she heard the female in the purple dress whispering, "Patty! Patty! Come on!", and she saw another subject, Kent Freizen (spelling unknown) come from the other side of the room. Ms. Nielson said she and others from the library were escorted outside by police personnel, ran out to So. Pierce St., where she was treated for the injury to her shoulder. Ms. Nielson added, she recalls carrying her sweater out of the library, but dropped it on the steps leading out of the library, so her sweater should still be on the steps.

Ms. Nielson was treated by Dr. E. Eby and her injuries were photographed by an Arapahoe County Crime Lab. Technician. Ms. Nielson was treated for an injury to the back of her right shoulder area, an abrasion on her right forearm, and a bruise/contusion to her left knee. Ms. Nielson was released from the hospital the same day. Ms. Nielson was joined at the hospital by her husband, Shane Nielson, at the hospital and a Douglas County S.O. Victim Advocate.

On Thursday, 04-22-99, I contacted Ms. Nielson, by telephone, at home. Ms. Nielson was improving and asked a lot of questions about what happened in the library. I did not know the answers to any of the questions she had, and referred her to J.C.S.D.. Ms. Nielson had no additional information to offer from the original interview at the hospital.

No additional information at this time.

On 04-30-99 at about 1125 hrs., this Investigator responded to 2168 S. Field Way and contacted:

NIELSON, PATRICIA
DOB: 12-06-63
[REDACTED]

Present during the interview was Nielson's sister, Christie Sanders, who is a Public Defender in Jefferson County. Also present was:

HOLLINGSWORTH, DAVID M., MSW
Licensed Clinical Social Worker
777 S. Wadsworth
(303) 969-9192

Hollingsworth was present on behalf of Nielson.

Nielson related class was out at 1110 hrs. She took some books with her and went to the library. The exact time she arrived is unknown, but it was possibly around 1120 to 1130 hrs. She had hall duty near the Library.

Nielson was watching the north corridor. Some kids said they heard gunfire. There was another kid in the hallway, identified as Brian Anderson. Nielson looked down the hall and saw a subject with his back to them.

Nielson thought they were probably making a video production. Suspect number one was shooting and she saw some smoke. Nielson related she decided to go out and stop this. She did not think it was a real gun.

The suspect then turns towards Nielson and points the gun at them. He smiles. The suspect shoots and the glass in the door goes out. Initially Nielson thought that it was possibly a BB gun until she looked at the door and saw the size of the hole. Nielson thought, "Oh dear God." Nielson turned around to get out of the area and then there was a second shot. She saw Anderson lurch and she felt a burning sensation in her shoulder.

Nielson went to the door across the hall. She subsequently ran into the library along with Anderson. Nielson was yelling when she went into the library. She yelled, "Help, there is a kid with a gun. We have been shot."

When she went in the library, there were kids all around. She yelled for someone to call 911. Nielson did not see another adult inside. She thought to herself, where is Ms

Keating? Rich Long then came out and told everyone to get out of the library. He then ran into the hallway.

Nielson could hear gun fire out in the hall. She went to the phone at the service desk. She yelled to the kids to get down before calling 911. They got under the tables. She told 911 that a kid had been shot.

Peggy Dodd, a library assistant came running out. She grabbed three kids and crawled into the magazine room. Nielson had the phone down on the desk. When Nielson first called 911, she was standing. The dispatcher asked Nielson to close the doors.

Nielson could not see any shooters outside, however, she heard gunfire. Nielson thought she was far to vulnerable if she attempted to close the doors. Besides she thought she did not have keys to the library.

A kid came and went under the table near her. However she remembers there was something under the table and he was a large kid. Nielson decided she would hid underneath. The large kid was wearing a jacket or shirt that had red or maroon on it.

Nielson got down when the really loud gun fire goes off. When she was down, she still yelled at the kids even though she could not see them. The suspects came into the library, however, she could not see them. She took the phone cord and pulled it underneath. Nielson thought that if they see her on the phone, they would shoot her, so she dropped the phone.

At about 1205 hrs., a person arrived at the Nielson home and entered. After a brief discussion with Nielson and Hollingsworth, Nielson decided to stop the interview. The person who entered the home is identified as:

JUAREZ, SUZZIE
Work Phone: 982-5967
Home Phone: 432-4262

Prior to stopping the interview, the discussion between Juarez, Hollingsworth and Nielson was in regards to having an attorney present for Nielson before she continued. They also discussed the up coming tour at Chatfield High School. Nielson and Hollingsworth indicated it would be best if they stopped so she could attend the tour. Therefore, the interview was terminated.

On the evening of 04-30-99, this Investigator telephoned Hollingsworth. He related that Nielson wanted to continue the interview. It was determined we would meet on Monday, 05-03-99 at 1100 hrs. to conclude the interview.

On 05-03-99 at about 1100 hrs., this Investigator returned to the Nielson residence to conclude the interview. Present for this interview were Sanders and Hollingsworth.

Nielson related while in the library, the phone was underneath her. She also related that it was Eric Harris who shot her. In regards to the suspects, when they came in, Nielson saw their feet. She heard them talk to each other and to other people. When asked how many sets of feet she saw, she said two.

Nielson believes that one kid stood up to them in the library. The person said, "That's enough" in a confrontational voice. The person replied, "Oh, what do we have here." She heard the word Nigger used and then she heard them shoot someone.

Nielson heard someone yell, "Oh God, Oh God" and the person replied, "Do you believe in God? The student replied, "Yes." Nielson indicated she could not see the shooters, she could just hear them.

When it was all over, Nielson thought there was more killed in there. She stated there was so many bullets. The boy next to her was unknown to Nielson. She was told later by Dean Kris Mikesell that it was possibly Evan under the desk.

This Investigator asked Nielson if she ever heard the statement by the shooters that a person could leave, she stated she does not remember hearing that statement. The suspects did relate they were going to blow this library up. They were yelling at the people.

When Nielson finally left, she couldn't see if anyone remained. This Investigator asked Nielson if she knew an ex-student by the name of [REDACTED] and she said no. She also related when she was standing up, she did not see anyone out in the hallway in front of the library. She related there was a lot of noise in the room.

At one point, the shooters called someone "Fat boy." They yelled at him. She heard one person say, "Do what ever you want with that one." At another point, the suspects walked right past Nielson. She was sitting under the counter on her rear end with her legs crouched up.

When they walked past her, they both had black pants on which were tucked in their boots. As they walked past her, one said, "Wait, there is one more thing." He stood in front of where she was. He picked up a chair and he slammed it on top of the counter above her head.

Nielson related when he stepped back, she saw his black pants and they were tucked in his boots. After slamming the chair, the person said, "Let's get down to the commons." She remembers a live bullet was on the carpet in front of her.

After they left, Nielson peaked up over the counter and she saw a pair of white tennis shoes under one of the tables. When she looked up there was no movement. Nielson does not remember seeing the kid next to her when she left.

Nielson crawled straight into the room in back of her. She crawled into a cupboard and stayed there for the next three hours. She looked at her watch and it was 1145 hrs. when she went in.

After she was in the cupboard for a long time, she heard someone in the room. As they walked by, she saw a purple dress. She opened the door and saw two women who she identified as Lois and Carol. She asked them if they knew if the suspects had been caught. They did not know. At around 1300 hrs., Lois and Carol leave the room. Nielson stayed in the room in the cupboard.

Within minutes of Lois and Carol leaving, there was some more gunfire. The gunfire was very close. She described it as being a small short burst. Nielson believed the shooters had found Lois and Carol and shot them. Later after it was all over, Lois and Carol told Nielson they thought just the opposite. They believed the shooters found Nielson and shot her.

About two hours after this burst of gunfire, Lois and Carol came back out. At some point, Nielson heard the sound of glass breaking out. She realizes now that it was probably Patrick Ireland getting out the window. When she heard the sound of breaking glass, there were no sounds of gunfire.

Nielson remembers hearing a continuous beeping sound. She learned later that if the fire alarm remains on for a certain length of time, it begins to beep. She believes the beeping sound went on for about an hour.

Nielson remained in the cupboard. She heard people in the area again. Suddenly the cupboard opened and it was Lois. She said, "Patty are you still in there?" They yelled at her to come on. They all went out the front door and she did not look around.

When Nielson left the library, she left through the counter door. SWAT was in the hallway. They were told that the suspects had not been apprehended yet and the building was full of bombs. Kent Friesen, a science teacher was with them at that point and he was very upset. He related Dave Sanders was hurt bad.

They all went downstairs, where they waited on the platform. When it was clear, they went out the back door of the cafeteria. Prior to going out, they waited for another teacher, Al Cram. They were told not to touch the backpack by the door. Once outside, they were put in the back of a police car.

It was 1500 to 1545 hrs., when they got out. She was inside for about four hours. Nielson indicates it was Eric Harris who shot her and Brian Anderson. Nielson related she saw his face. Then from the faces on television, Harris seems to fit the person shooting at them.

Nielson also related that Brian Anderson ID Harris directly. This Investigator asked Nielson how she knew that. She indicated Anderson told Peggy Dodd, "Eric Harris fucking shot me Peggy."

Nielson described the suspect in the hallway which shot her and Anderson as follows:

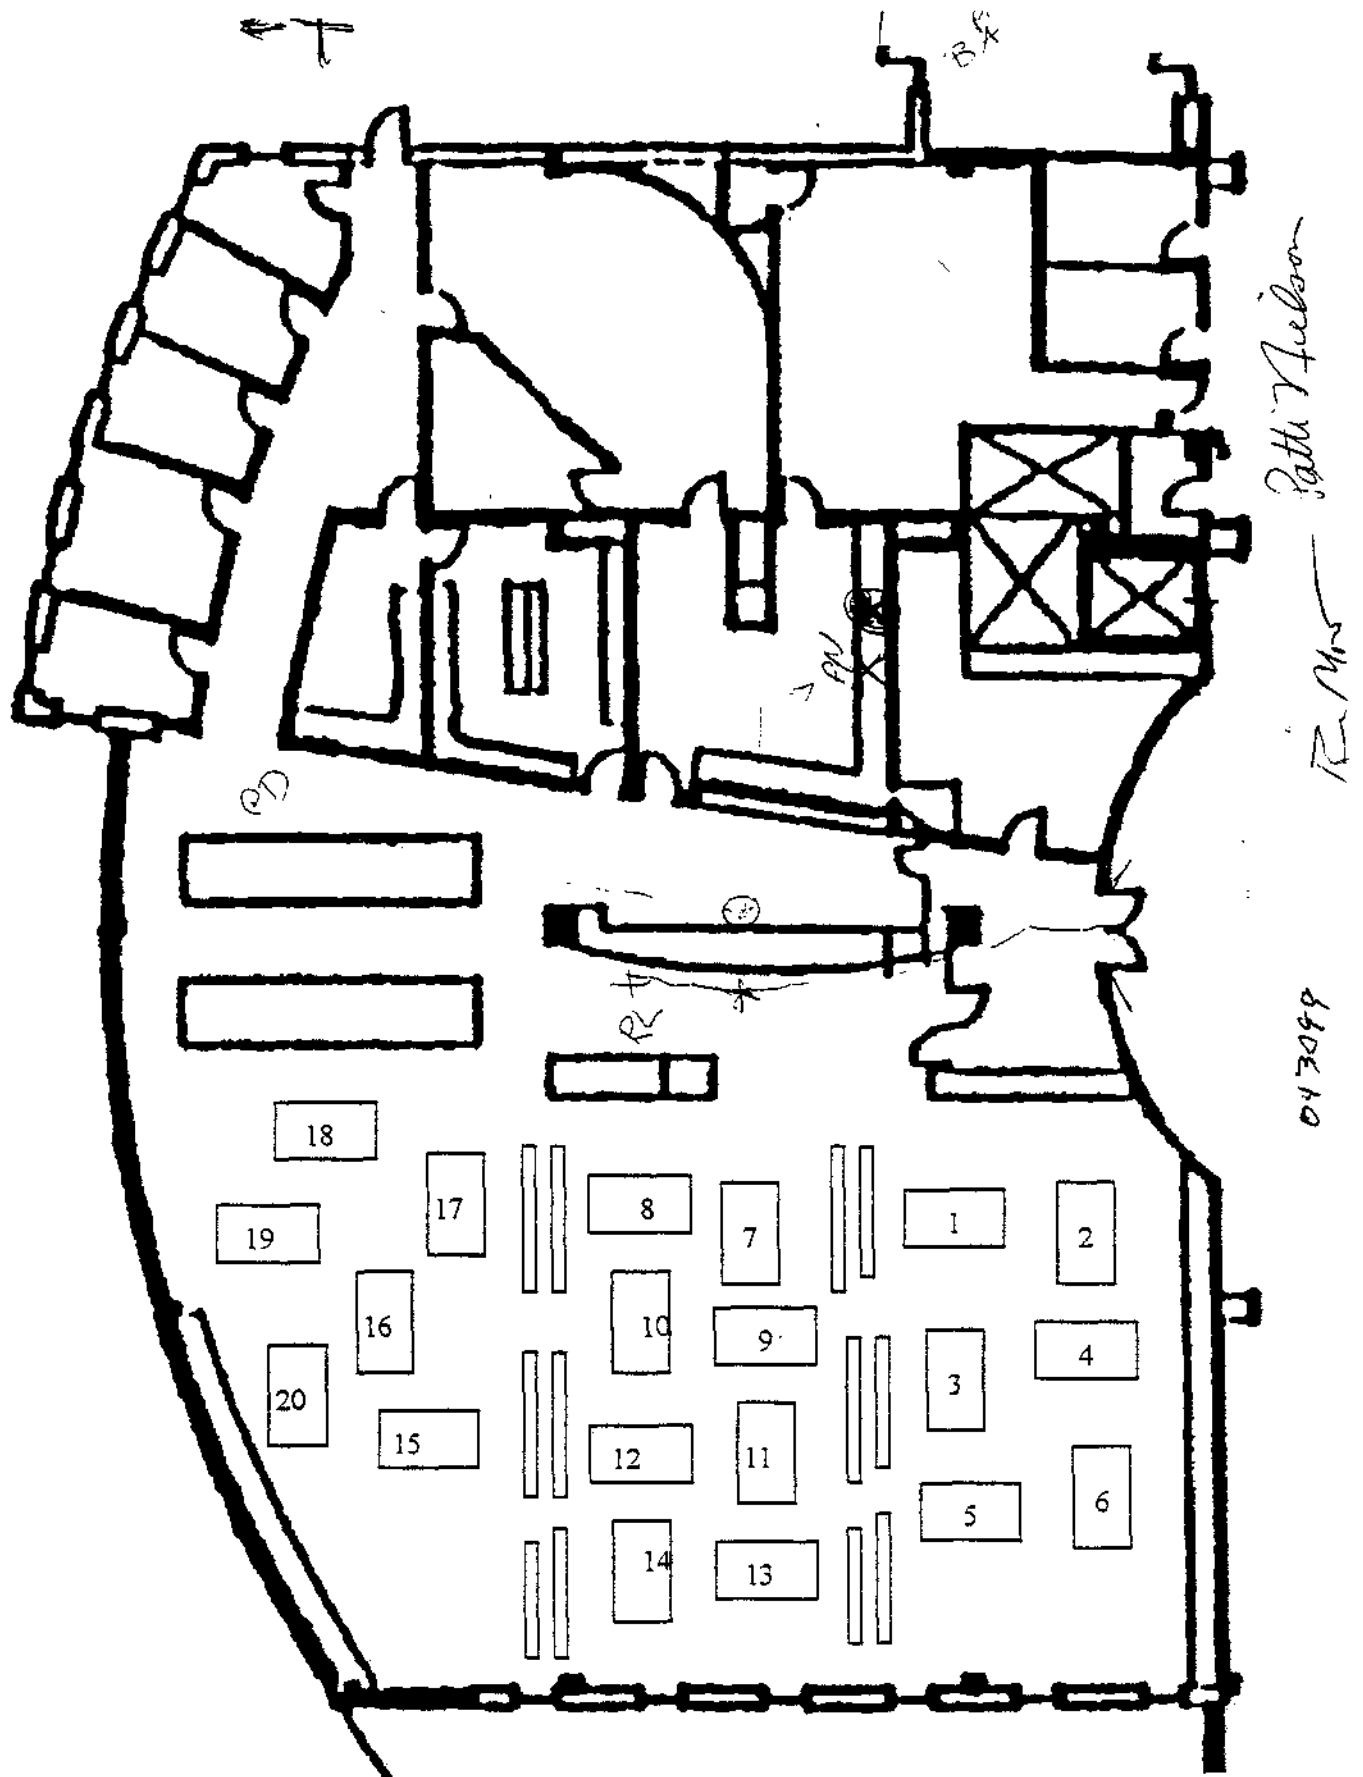

Black pants, tucked in the boots. He was wearing a black trench coat. Underneath the coat, possibly wearing something white, the coat was open. He was wearing either a beret or stalking hat. He was definitely not wearing a mask. She is positive of that. His left hand was extended and his right hand was back.

This Investigator asked Nielson if she could have seen a baseball hat that was on backwards. She related she has in her head that it was a black beret he was wearing.

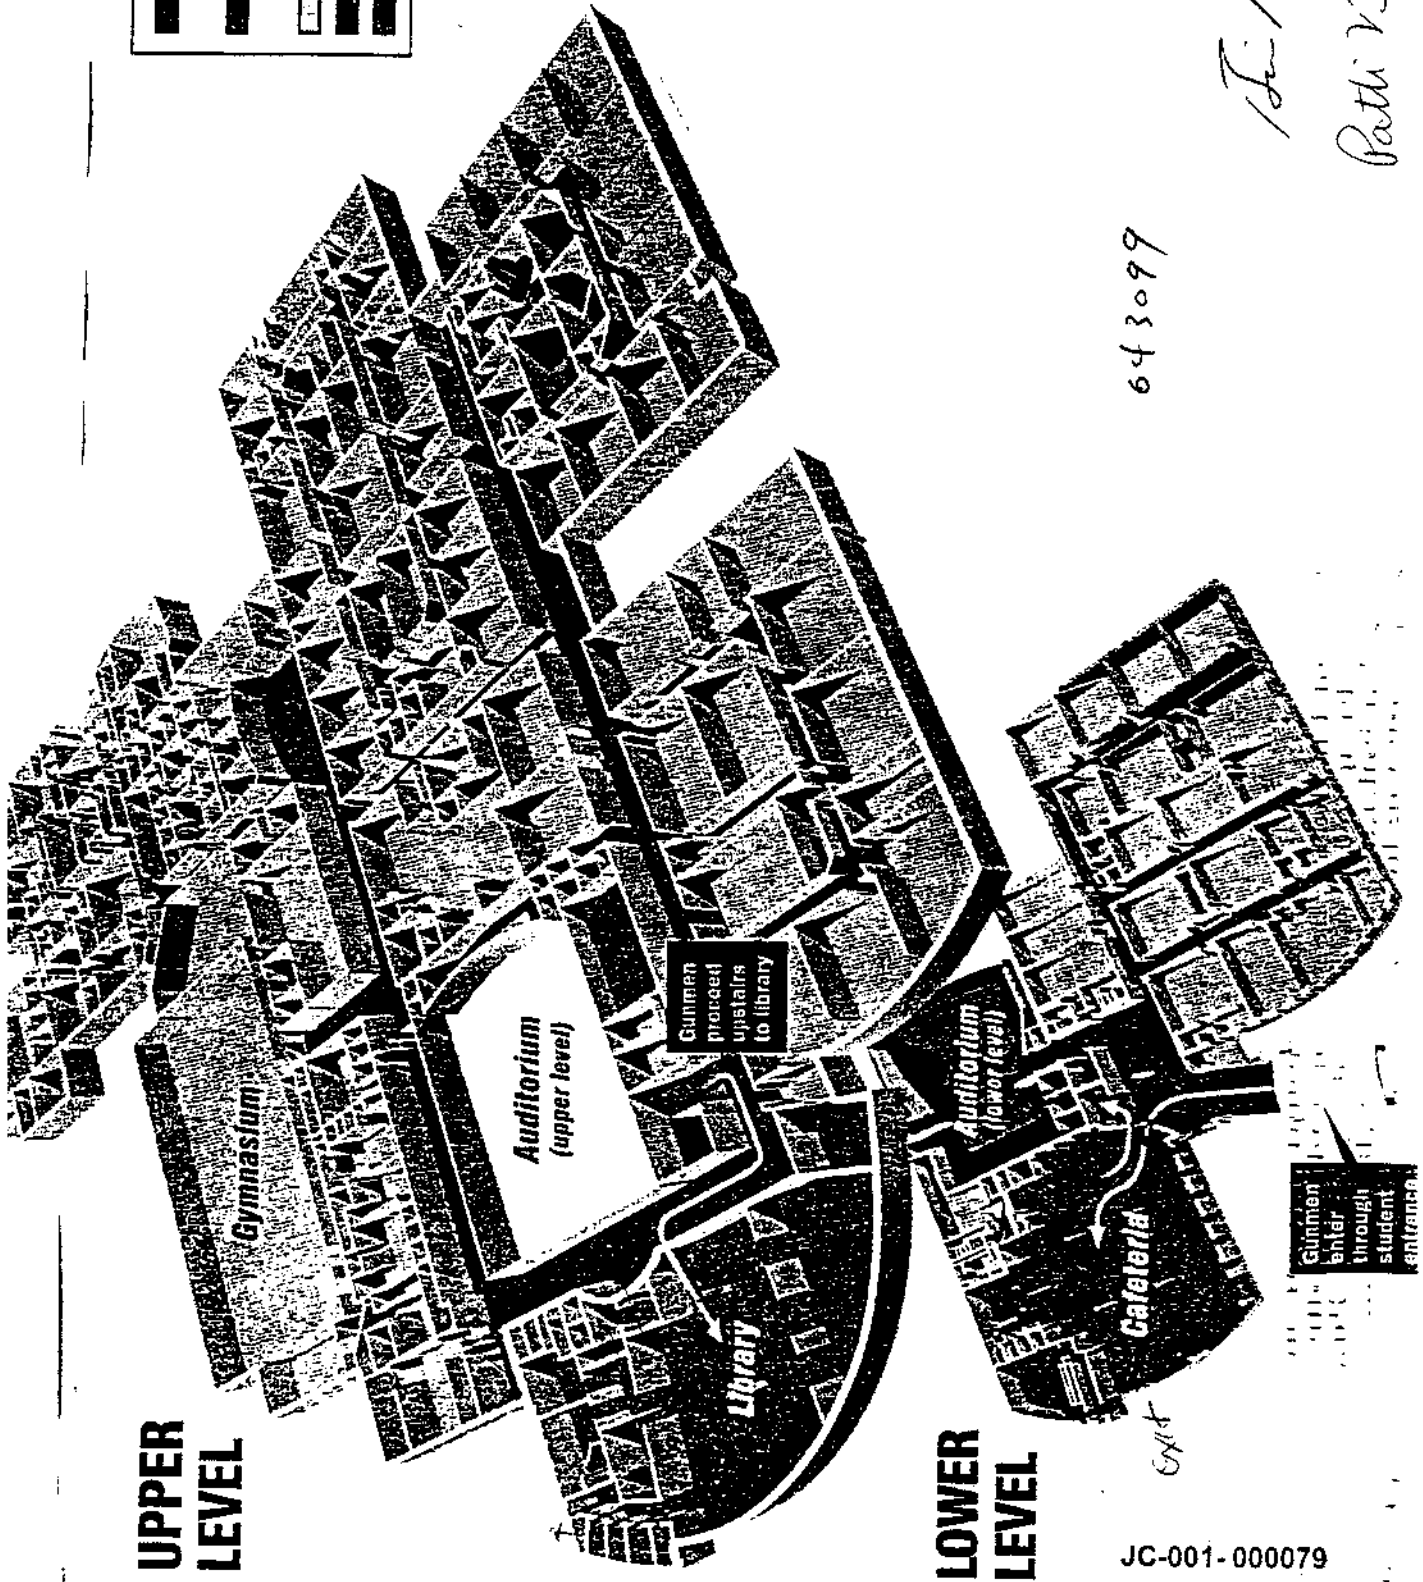

This Investigator asked Nielson while she was in the library, did she ever smell smoke. She said yes. Initially she thought it was the police throwing in tear gas. When she was in the cupboard, a long time went by, then she heard what she thought was a single bomb. Per Nielson, that was it. There was no further gunfire or bombs after that.

Nielson did complete two drawing, one of the library and one of their escape route.

CONNECTED TO JEFFERSON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT CR 99-7625

On 05/21/99 Detective Boatright (IO) was assigned DN #4950 requesting he contact and interview Patricia Nielson. Within the narrative of the lead, IO was informed Patricia Nielson had been injured by gunfire in the north hallway, after which she entered the library and subsequently placed a 911 call to the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office. Patricia Nielson reportedly remained in the library until she was evacuated by members of the SWAT team. IO was requested to interview Patricia Nielson for the purpose of gathering additional information related to this investigation.

On 05/25/99 at approximately 0840 hours IO met with Patricia Nielson at the Jefferson County Hall of Justice. At the time IO met with the aforementioned, she was in the company of her husband, Shane Nielson, her sister Christy Sanders and her therapist identified as David M. Hollingsworth, MSW. All of the aforementioned individuals were present for the purpose of supporting Patricia Nielson during the interview. For purposes of clarification, Christy Sanders is employed through the State of Colorado Public Defenders Office. IO confirmed with Christy Sanders she was simply acting as a support system for her sister and was not there on any official capacity.

Upon contact with Patricia Nielson (AKA Patty Nielson), IO verified her date of birth as 12/06/63 and she resides at [REDACTED] IO [REDACTED] further verified with Patty Nielson she is employed at Columbine High School as an art teacher.

IO next requested Patty Nielson provide an account of her activities on 04/20/99 beginning at the time she arrived at school. Patty Nielson explained as was normally the case, she arrived at school at approximately 0745 hours, parking in the northeast teachers lot off of Pierce Street. Patty Nielson explained her first period class is free and she normally uses that for "planning." IO verified with Patty Nielson after parking her car in the northeast teachers lot, she then entered the school via the main east entrance and subsequently responded back to the jewelry room. IO would note the aforementioned room is located in the northeast area of the school. According to Patty Nielson, upon arriving at school through the first hour class, she did not make any observations which she considered to be unusual.

Patty Nielson indicated her second period class began at approximately 0820 hours and concluded at approximately 0915 hours. Patty Nielson related her second period class is taught in the "jewelry room" which is the same location previously described in this report. When asked if anything unusual occurred during her second period class, Patty Nielson responded in the affirmative. Patty Nielson recalled during second period, one of her students identified as "Brittany Gillette" (spelling provided by Nielson) made the statement, "Hey Mrs. Nielson, did you know it was Adolph Hitler's birthday?" Patty Nielson stated she was not aware of that fact and other than to acknowledge Brittany Gillette's comment, there was no additional discussion concerning that point. Patty Nielson stated she did not know whether that comment was relevant to the investigation but felt it should be reported.

Patty Nielson reported she then taught her third period class which begins at approximately 0920 hours and concludes at approximately 1015 hours. Patty Nielson stated her third period class is taught in the "drawing room" which is located in the same general area as the jewelry room. Patty Nielson stated she did not recall any unusual events during third period class.

In respect to her fourth hour class, Patty Nielson stated it began at approximately 1020 hours and concluded at approximately 1110 hours. Patty Nielson indicated her fourth period class is taught back in the jewelry room and she did not recall any additional events which she considered to be unusual.

Patty Nielson explained on a normal day, she would have been "finished for the day" at the conclusion of her fourth period class. Patty Nielson stated as part of her assigned duties as a teacher at Columbine High School, she is required to perform "hall duty." Patty Nielson explained on this particular date, she had made arrangements to trade her hall duty with Rudy Martin and as a result, was scheduled to work "A lunch" in the north hall while her assignment during "B lunch" was to work the "south hall." IO clarified with Patty Nielson had it not been for her hall duty assignment that date, she would have left Columbine High School shortly after the conclusion of her fourth period class. IO further verified with Patty Nielson the reason she changed hall assignments with Rudy Martin was to better accommodate her schedule.

When asked to explain her responsibilities when performing hall duty, Patty Nielson stated her primary responsibilities are to keep the halls "quiet" and prevent students from simply "wandering the halls." Patty Nielson stated she is also requested to monitor students who would possibly gather in the halls or try to "sneak food" into various parts of the school. Patty Nielson stated she did not recall having any serious problems when performing hall duty in the past.

According to Patty Nielson, she began her hall duty on that date around the time "A lunch" started (approximately 1115 hours).

Patty Nielson explained during the course of performing her hall duty in the north hall, she began walking west and recalled being just east of the west entrance/exit (main level) when specific events pertaining to this investigation began. Patty Nielson reiterated she was standing just east of the west entrance/exit in the north hall when she noticed Brian Anderson, a student, passing her location. It was at approximately that same time she heard a "noise" (unable to be more specific) which caused her to look outside the west entrance/exit. Patty Nielson stated at that point she observed a white male (possible student) standing outside the west entrance/exit near the north library emergency exit door. Patty Nielson explained at the time she did not recognize the student and initially only saw him from behind. Patty Nielson stated during her initial observation of the student, she noted he was wearing a "black trench coat" with either a "beret or black stocking cap" on his head. Patty Nielson stated when making that observation, she also noted that "smoke" appeared to be "rising" around the area where that individual was standing.

Patty Nielson related at the point she was making the above observation, Brian Anderson commented that the person she just described must be involved in some type of video production and was in possession of what was believed to be a "cap gun." Patty Nielson stated when hearing Brian Anderson's explanation of the event, she recalled thinking she did not see a video crew and felt the student's behavior was inappropriate, particularly as it pertained to the simulation of weapons on school property. Patty Nielson pointed out it was irrelevant whether or not the student was involved in a video project she still considered the behavior very inappropriate.

Patty Nielson stated at that point she began walking west down the north hall after which she passed through the first set of doors leading outside the school. IO would note at that location there are two sets of doors separated by what could be described as a vestibule area. IO clarified with Patty Nielson she had passed through the first set of doors and was still proceeding westbound in an effort to contact the student. Patty Nielson further clarified that as she proceeded in the manner indicated, Brian Anderson accompanied her and was walking to her left (south).

Patty Nielson related just after she and Brian Anderson had walked through the first set of doors, the student she previously described turned and looked back in her direction. According to Patty Nielson, this student was originally facing a somewhat southerly direction as she began to approach his location. As Patty Nielson continued with her explanation, she noted once the suspect had turned and looked in her direction, she remembered he "smiled." Patty Nielson stated at that point the suspect leveled a long firearm in her direction and subsequently fired the weapon. When asked to describe the individual who fired the weapon in her direction, Patty Nielson responded she believed it was "Eric Harris." IO confirmed with Patty Nielson she based that identification from photographs she had seen of Eric Harris via news footage. Patty Nielson was again asked to describe the individual who fired the weapon in her direction. Patty Nielson clarified the individual who fired the weapon in her direction was the person she had previously described. Patty Nielson did she was still in contact with the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office dispatcher and remembered yelling to the students present in the library. When asked what she was yelling at that time, Patty Nielson stated she believed she was telling the students to stay down. Patty Nielson indicated one of the main reasons she continued to yell out to the students was she wanted to "reassure them somebody was doing something."

IO confirmed with Patty Nielson up to this point she had been advising Jefferson County Sheriff's Office dispatchers of the situation, specifically that she was now present in the library and she had seen a student firing a weapon. In addition, Patty Nielson indicated the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office dispatch was further advised there were injuries as a result of the shooting. Patty Nielson went on to state as she was speaking with the dispatcher shortly after the 911 contact was made, she clarified she had continued to instruct students to stay down under the tables. Patty Nielson stated she also believed she had informed the dispatcher one suspect had entered the school and was in the hallway outside the library.

Patty Nielson went on to state approximately two minutes into the 911 call, she began to hear additional gunshots or explosions which she now knew were taking place right outside the library. Patty Nielson clarified up to this point it was her belief there was only one suspect involved in the shooting.

Patty Nielson stated a short time later she began to think there was possibly more than one suspect. When asked to elaborate, Patty Nielson explained based on the "yelling" and "voices" she was hearing directly outside the library entrance, she began to conclude there was more than one suspect. Patty Nielson stated she could not recall any specific statements made by the suspects at that time but remembered thinking she was hearing more than one voice and more than one person "yelling." Patty Nielson explained as she continued to hear shots and possible explosions out in the hall, she continued to caution students in the library to "stay down or stay on the floor." Patty Nielson further recalled during this time frame providing the dispatcher with a suspect description. Patty Nielson then told IO when she was describing the suspect to the dispatcher, she remembered she was only thinking there was one individual involved. Patty Nielson stated after she had described the suspect to the dispatcher, it was at that point she began to think that there were possibly two suspects involved for the reasons stated above.

Patty Nielson next told IO there was either a loud gunshot or explosion directly outside the library which she recalled occurred just seconds before the suspects entered the library. Patty Nielson stated at the point the suspects entered the library, she knew for a fact there were two. When asked to elaborate, Patty Nielson stated she could hear the suspects' movements directly on the other side of the main counter she was hiding behind. Patty Nielson stated based on the movements she heard (walking type noises), she determined there were two suspects. Patty Nielson stated once the suspects had entered the library, she remembered she started whispering when speaking to the dispatcher. Patty Nielson stated she initially began whispering the "Lord's Prayer" at which time she also moved further underneath the desk to provide better concealment. Patty Nielson stated at that point she was angling in a southerly direction and was still in contact with the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department dispatcher.

Patty Nielson stated she continued reciting the Lord's Prayer until she heard the dispatcher ask her her name. Patty Nielson stated she did respond to the dispatcher by indicating her name was "Patty Nielson." Patty Nielson stated after providing the dispatcher with her name she then indicated, "They're in here." Patty Nielson stated she wanted the dispatcher to understand the suspects had now entered the library. Patty Nielson stated it was also at that same time she began to hear at least one of the suspects demanding that everyone "get up." Patty Nielson stated she believed the suspect repeated that demand several times. Pursuant to questioning, Patty Nielson stated when the suspects initially entered the library she knew based on their movement they were going in a westerly direction. Patty Nielson stated the suspects were in fact moving in a westerly direction when she heard them demand that students in the library "get up." Patty Nielson told IO to the best of her knowledge she did not believe any of the students complied with the suspect's demands. Patty Nielson told IO it was at that time she began to hear gunshots on the west side of the library. Patty Nielson was unable to recall the number of gunshots she heard but it was her belief that the suspects were "going around and shooting every student who was hiding underneath the tables." Patty Nielson told IO shortly after she began to hear the initial gunshots she then "dropped the phone." IO clarified with Patty Nielson she was still concealed under the main counter facing what she believed was a southerly direction. Patty Nielson did point out once she had let go of the phone she moved further back into the open space in an effort to provide better concealment from the suspects.

Patty Nielson stated once she knew shooting was going on inside the library she began to hear "hooting and hollering." Patty Nielson stated it was very clear in her mind the suspects were "enjoying themselves." Patty Nielson reiterated it was her belief the suspects were methodically going to each table and shooting the students who were hiding underneath those tables. Patty Nielson also stated she heard the suspects taunting various students. When asked specifically what she heard, Patty Nielson stated she remembered one of the suspects stating to someone, "You think those glasses look cool" or "You think those glasses are cool." Patty Nielson stated it was clear in her mind the suspects were attempting to humiliate the victims prior to shooting them.

"soft and quiet." Patty Nielson added she believed the victim was "crying" during the above verbal exchange with the suspect. Patty Nielson went onto state when she heard the female's voice she remembered thinking that the female was possibly "moving" as she was speaking. Patty Nielson was unable to be more specific in terms of that incident other than to reiterate she knew those comments were coming from a location near table #1 or #2.

When asked what else she could remember related to this incident, Patty Nielson stated there seemed to be continuous gunfire during the course of the incident intermingled with the above described suspect and victim statements. Patty Nielson stated she also remembered at one point hearing glass breaking and assumed it was coming from the west windows, however, she could not be certain. At that point in the interview, Patty Nielson again told IO in respect to the comments she was unable to recall the sequence and with only a few exceptions was unable to recall where any of the comments originated. IO confirmed with Patty Nielson in respect to the comments, if she was able to identify a general area or location from which they originated that information was reported and to the best of her knowledge accurate.

When asked what she next recalled, Patty Nielson stated at one point just prior to the suspects leaving the library, she knew they had come up and walked behind the main counter. Patty Nielson stated when she knew the suspects were behind the counter she remembered hearing a student state, "I don't want to get in trouble, I don't want to get in trouble." Patty Nielson then heard one of the suspects respond to the student by stating, "You don't know what trouble is." Patty Nielson believed the suspect then referred to the student as "pathetic." Patty Nielson related earlier in this incident she had also heard one of the suspects refer to another student as "pathetic."

Continuing with Patty Nielson's explanation of the incident, the forenamed stated she then heard the second suspect confront that same student (referred to above). Patty Nielson heard the suspect state to the student, "Whatta we got here, a fat boy?" Patty Nielson next heard one of the suspects tell the other suspect he could "do whatever you want with that one, I don't care." Patty Nielson concluded the suspect was again referring to that same student. At that point IO clarified with Patty Nielson both the suspects were located behind the main counter and it was her belief the student they were in contact with was also located somewhere behind the counter. Patty Nielson clarified she could not see that student nor did she ever see that student during the course of this incident.

Patty Nielson related after hearing the above verbal exchange she did not specifically hear what either of the suspects intended to do with the student they had been threatening. Patty Nielson reported the next comment she did hear from one of the suspects had "something to do with guns." Patty Nielson was unable to be more specific concerning that point. Patty Nielson stated after she heard the reference to the guns she could then hear movement behind the main counter and believed one of the suspects had possibly set something down as he walked past her location. Patty Nielson was referring to the counter area where the suspect may have placed an item. Patty Nielson told IO it was at that point she thought she was going to "be shot." Patty Nielson did relate as the suspect had walked past her location she was able to glance over to the side and observed that individual wearing "black pants and black boots."

Within moments of making that observation, Patty Nielson then heard one of the suspects state, "Wait there's one more thing." According to Patty Nielson, one of the suspects then picked up a chair located behind the main counter and threw it down on top of the desk. Patty Nielson stated the chair struck the desk directly above where she was concealed. Patty Nielson told IO at this point she was uncertain as to whether or not the suspects knew she was present.

Patty Nielson related after the chair had been thrown on top of the desk she then heard one of the suspects state, "Let's get down to the Commons." Patty Nielson indicated that comment indicated to her that the suspects were preparing to leave. Patty Nielson stated she did not actually see the suspects leave but soon thereafter did not recall hearing any additional movement behind the main counter. Patty Nielson further clarified she did not hear any additional shots or explosions occurring in the library after hearing that comment.

Patty Nielson stated approximately five minutes after she believed the suspects had left the library she came out from behind the counter and looked out into the library. Patty Nielson stated she did not recall specifically seeing anyone but remembered seeing "tennis shoes" around the area what's been identified as tables #9 and #10. Patty Nielson was unable to be more specific concerning that point. Patty Nielson was asked if she recalled seeing anyone when she looked out into the library. Patty Nielson responded in the negative and then added, "I assumed everyone was dead." Patty Nielson stated at that point she crawled on her hands and knees back into a "kitchen" type area located directly north behind the main counter. Patty Nielson explained she then crawled into a cupboard (located directly off the floor) where she closed the doors and concealed herself. Patty Nielson stated it was at that point she looked at her watch and recalled the time being approximately 1145 hours. Pursuant to questioning, Patty Nielson reported she did not actually hear anyone (suspect or victim) leave the library prior to or after she moved into the kitchen area. Patty Nielson went onto state she assumed she was the only one left alive in the library. Patty Nielson related it was not until later that she realized others were present.

IO subsequently asked Patty Nielson to explain what occurred cer she concealed herself in the cupboard in the kitchen area.
 ty Nielson explained she could still hear what she believed were ashots and explosions from inside the school. Patty Nielson arified the aforementioned noises were not coming from the prary but some place else within the school. Patty Nielson ated there were also times where there was silence after which would again erupt in either what she believed were gunshots or plosions. Patty Nielson was unable to be more specific pcerning the number of gunshots or explosions she heard. Patty elson then related it was also during this same time frame she uld still hear the suspects "yelling" somewhere inside the hool. Again, Patty Nielson indicated the aforementioned yelling
 s not coming from inside the library

When asked if she could put a time frame to the aforementioned observations, Patty Nielson stated she knew she had made the above observations prior to hearing "helicopters." Patty Nielson stated one point while hidden in the cupboard she definitely heard helicopters but pointed out she was still hearing what she believed were gunshots coming from somewhere in the school. Patty Nielson stated as time passed she could feel her left foot beginning to amp and she was also having pain in her shoulder from the gunshot injury. Patty Nielson then attempted to describe to IO the position she was in while concealed in the cupboard. In brief, Patty Nielson described a very cramped area which did not allow her to move any of her extremities, thus causing joint pain along with amping. Patty Nielson specifically mentioned pain she experienced in her shoulders/neck area due to the fact her head had to be bent forward in order to fit in the cupboard. Patty Nielson also recalled trying to suppress coughs while being concealed.

IO confirmed with Patty Nielson upon entering the cupboard she was still hearing gunshots and what she thought were explosions. She also heard yelling which she attributed to the suspects. IO further verified all those noises were coming from outside the library. When asked if she could recall anything else up to that point, Patty Nielson paused and then responded in the affirmative. Patty Nielson stated she believed she could hear a phone ringing in the library somewhere. Patty Nielson was unable to be more specific concerning that point.

Patty Nielson did indicate there was one point where an event took place that she could reference back to an approximate time due to the fact she looked at her watch. When asked to elaborate, Patty Nielson indicated she remembered hearing movement in the kitchen area. Patty Nielson stated she then looked out into the kitchen area through a small opening created by the cupboard door not closing completely. Patty Nielson stated at that point she saw a female in a dress and moments later recognized that person as Lois Keen, a library assistant. Patty Nielson stated at that point she made contact with Lois Keen who was now standing in the kitchen area near where she was hiding. IO confirmed with Patty Nielson she did not get out from the cupboard when speaking with Lois Keen. When asked what occurred during that conversation, Patty Nielson stated she remembered Lois Keen asking, "Patty, do you know what's going on, have they caught them." Patty Nielson stated she responded to Lois Keen in the negative and then related to IO this was the first time she realized there were others present in the library who were still alive. Patty Nielson stated her conversation with Lois Keen was very brief and was conducted in whispers. Patty Nielson stated based on her conversation with Lois Keen neither were able to determine whether or not the suspects had been apprehended or where they were presently located. Patty Nielson did indicate when speaking with Lois Keen, the forenamed reported she along with Carol Weld were hiding in the "RNN room." Patty Nielson pointed out it was later she learned the forenamed assistants were hiding in the "soundproof booth." Patty Nielson stated her conversation with Lois Keen was very brief after which both Lois Keen and Carol Weld walked back towards what Patty Nielson believed was the RNN room. Patty Nielson stated it was her impression both the forenamed were going to continue hiding in that location. Patty Nielson then commented there was no discussion between herself and Lois Keen in terms of all three of them hiding together or any plan of action related to their situation.

[illegible]

Patty Nielson stated within a couple of minutes after the above described situation occurred she again heard "gunfire." Patty Nielson reported the gunfire was very close and it was her fear that Carol Weld and Lois Keen had been caught by the suspects and killed. When asked how many shots were fired, Patty Nielson stated, "Enough to kill those two ladies." IO verified with Patty Nielson she was certain there were at least two shots fired at that point. Patty Nielson stated it was possible there were more than two shots but simply remembered thinking that the number of shots she heard were certainly enough to kill Lois Keen and Carol Weld. Patty Nielson stated she remembered thinking that Lois Keen and Carol Weld had not made it back to their original hiding place prior to being caught by the suspects.

Pursuant to questioning, Patty Nielson reported the above described gunshots (which occurred shortly after 1300 hours) seemed very close and it was her belief those gunshots came from inside the library. Patty Nielson pointed out since the time the suspects left the library originally she had not heard gunshots that seemed to be as close as the ones she just described. Patty Nielson was unable to be specific in terms of where the gunshots may have originated in reference to a specific area in the library. Patty Nielson again commented it was simply her impression the suspects had caught Lois Keen and Carol Weld as they were returning to their hiding place in the RNN room. When asked if she believed that was where those gunshots came from, Patty Nielson stated she could not be certain and could only indicate that they seemed relevant to this investigation, Patti Nielson responded in the affirmative. Patti Nielson went on to explain even though she made no specific observations concerning the point where Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold died, she said did have a "feeling." Patti Nielson explained she was again simply "speculating" but felt that Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold had shot themselves "simultaneously." Patti Nielson went on to state approximately one half hour to 45 minutes prior to being evacuated by SWAT members she did recall hearing a "boom" noise which she believed came from the southwest corner of the library. Patti Nielson reiterated she made no additional observations and was simply "speculating" that noise could have been associated with simultaneous gunshots resulting the death of Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold. Patti Nielson stated she had no additional information related to this investigation. IO would note during his previous interview with the forenamed on 05/25/99 Patti Nielson did not disclose hearing a "boom" noise emanating from the southwest corner of the library occurring approximately one half hour to 45 minutes prior to being evacuated. IO would note Patti Nielson indicated she was evacuated from the library sometime between 1500 and 1515 hours on 04/20/99. IO concluded his contact with Patti Nielson.
